Gangland Leaders Face Watchdog Group Friday

ALBANY (AP)—Underworld potentates and retainers will resume their silk-shirted parade this Friday before legislators anxious to know what sinister games the big shots played in tiny Apalachin last month.

The Legislature's watchdog committee vowed to keep digging into the gangland convention despite frustration by a Fifth Amendment curtain of silence.

13 Have Testified

Thirteen New Yorkers who were among the 60 hoodlums and pals netted in a state police raid at Apalachin Nov. 14 testified during the first three days of a public hearing that recessed Saturday. They invoked the Fifth Amendment more than 700 times and told nothing of consequence.

After the procession of guarded answers was over, committee chairman William F. Horan pledged: "You just don't give up on these things."

SLA Inquiry

One of the 13-questioned—Joseph Falcone, a Utica liquor dealer—faced more of the same today. This time a hearing in Utica before the State Liquor Authority, which is moving to take away the liquor license owned by Falcone's wife.

In another development, the Republican legislative leaders yesterday renewed their call on Gov. Harriman for a statewide war on gangsters under the supervision of the office of Republican Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

Senate majority leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly speaker Oswald D. Heck formally requested in writing that Harriman authorize creation of an agency with Lefkowitz' office.

Capped 'Resurgence'

The leaders said the "amazing conclave of underworld leaders at Apalachin" had topped off a "resurgence of organized crime" in New York.

"State government cannot rest supine with procedures no longer adequate to meet powerful gangster combines," they said.

The proposed agency would work with local law enforcement agencies and act as a clearing house for information on criminal activities, they said.

The office of the attorney general, Heck and Mahoney said, was the "only logical repository of the new law-enforcement functions proposed in this letter."

DAs Meet Wednesday

Harriman has called a conference for Wednesday of all district attorneys in the state to organize an anti-crime drive. He has invited Lefkowitz to sit in.

Mahoney and Heck said they were "gratified" that the govern-

$106,253 Tax Hike In County Budget

The net amount to be raised by direct taxation in the tentative 1958 budget is $106,253.62 more than the amount raised by direct taxation in the 1957 county budget.

This figure is arrived at from the budget officer's estimate which will be presented at a public hearing at the court house at 3 p. m. on Thursday when the 1958 county budget will be discussed prior to adoption by the board of supervisors which will meet that evening at 8 o'clock.

New Appropriation

There is one new appropriation in the budget this year, $31,650 for a mental health board, newly created department. There is also an unusually large appropriation in the 1958 budget to cover the county's share of Social Security retroactive payments. This is $75,000 against an appropriation of only $13,000 last year.

The 1958 gross budget is $6,139,271.87 against the 1957 gross budget of $5,814,703. However estimated revenues appropriated cash surplus and appropriated reserves for 1958 are estimated at $3,732,762.75 against the sum of $3,514,347.50 in 1957.

The net to be raised by direct taxation in the 1958 tentative budget is $2,406,509.12 against the 1957 net of $2,300,355.50, or $106,253.62 more than in 1957.

In the tentative 1958 budget it estimated there will be required the sum of $4,645,571.87 for the general fund; $1,038,000 for the county road fund; $457,700 for the road machinery fund.

Tentative Appropriations

Appropriations for the various functions of county government as outlined in the tentative budget are:

Legislative $57,135.
Judicial $212,025.
Staff $287,860.
Public Safety $92,795.
Highway $1,896,695.
Health $700,387.
Public Welfare $1,979,710.
Correction $69,460.
Education $11,005.
Public Enterprises $3,660.
Natural Resources $11,899.32.
Authorized Agencies $51,440.
County General $1,459,900.55.
Debt Redemption $125,000.

Total State and Federal aid is estimated at $2,411,860.00 and the estimated revenues attributable to functions is $1,920,602.75. Revenue not attributed to specific functions is $220,000.

Under a revised salary schedule, recommended by a special salary committee, there has been a general increase in salaries under a schedule designed to equalize the pay of county employees.

The public hearing will be held at the supervisors rooms in the court house on Thursday, December 19, at 3 p. m.

Education Mainly Up to Parents Is Advice of Nixon

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon has warned against too much emphasis on science training, saying the public school system should develop "the whole man, not merely one phase of the intellect."

Nixon, speaking last night at the 29th annual scholarship dinner of Yeshiva University, said education constituted "our most fundamental challenge" as a result of Soviet scientific advances.

The first requirement, he said, is for better teachers "with the salary, prestige and backing to enable us to attract the best minds to his honored profession."

Saying the basic responsibility for education rests with the American parent, Nixon added:

"American education will be no better and no worse than the individual American parent wants it to be."

Subways Step Operations To 80 Per Cent of Normal

NEW YORK (AP)—The city's subways stepped up operations to 80 per cent of normal during the morning rush today as the strike by motormen and other transit employees entered its second week.

The Transit Authority reported acceleration of service on all divisions of the subway system.

The authority shifted motormen among the divisions to improve service on the lines serving

Brooklyn and Queens, which have been most affected since the strike began.

The speed-up in service was announced as the striking motormen prepared to take formal action on Mayor Robert F. Wagner's back-to-work proposal.

At a Manhattan rally yesterday the motormen cheered sharp criticisms of Wagner's proposal made Saturday night.

The mayor also told the strikers on television last night that the city will not let itself be "blackmailed" into acceptance of their demand for separate bargaining representation.

Louis Waldman, attorney for the striking Motormen's Benevolent Assn., told the rally that, without clarification of the mayor's proposal, the men would be buying "a cat in a bag."

In his "peace proposal," Wagner said that if the strikers return to work the TA will join in an application to get four MBA leaders out of jail. The officials were jailed last week for violation of a no-strike injunction.

Wagner said he had agreed to set up a fund to take care of inequities for certain subway employees and named former Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind to act as an impartial referee in considering cases against individual strikers.

The mayor promised there would be no "summary dismissals" of strikers.

After his television speech last night Wagner told reporters that the strikers have a reasonable time in which to return to work. The MBA membership was to ballot at 5 p. m. today in Brooklyn on Wagner's proposals.

Dystrophy Drive Scheduled at 6:30

Homes of the city will be visited this evening beginning at 6:30 o'clock by representatives of various teenage groups in the canvass for the 1957 Muscular Dystrophy fund. All residents are asked to give generously for this cause. Through research flanked by our contributions, the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., hope to find a cure for this dread disease which strikes so many Americans annually.

Ben Schechter, city chairman, has arranged for the canvass of the entire city. Following the solicitation the workers will report back to the common council chambers in the city hall and make their report.

Residents of the city willing to make a contribution to this cause, are asked to put on porch lights and welcome the solicitor who may be making the call. John J. Shock, general chairman, urges.

Beck Out of Jail On $3,000 Bail

SEATTLE (AP)—Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, is free on $3,000 bond following his conviction in superior court of embezzling $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned Cadillac.

The jury of five men and seven housewives returned its verdict after 8 hours and 17 minutes of deliberation. Beck's attorney has filed a motion for a new trial.

Judge George H. Revelle and attorneys for both sides went into conference in the judge's chambers after the verdict was announced.

A newspaper (the Seattle Times) said it had learned that Beck's attorneys will charge misconduct by jurors as a basis for seeking a new trial.

The jury found the 63-year-old Beck guilty of grand larceny. He faces a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison. There has been no indication when sentence will be passed.

When the verdict was read Saturday afternoon, Beck stared fixedly at a wall. There was a faint smile on his lips. Later, as he raced down seven flights of stairs, he repeatedly called "No comment" to newsmen.

Teachers Remind It Means Money To Meet Demands

ALBANY (AP)—Teachers in New York State say that they are ready to do their part in meeting the educational demands of the space age but that the state must realize it will require "a lot more money."

That was the policy statement announced Saturday after a meeting of the board of directors and legislative council of the New York State Teachers Assn., which claims 70,000 members.

Ready to Do Part

"The teaching profession is ready and willing to do its part. We must have the full support of the public," the association declared. The state, the teachers said, must face "the stubborn fact that it will require a lot more money to provide the educational opportunities" that the age demands.

"For one thing, the association said, "we must guarantee economic rewards for teaching well above what we provide for other comparable careers."

Supports Aid Proposal

The statement reaffirmed support for a proposal to increase the level of state aid to schools by 225 million dollars annually, about 30 per cent. But, the association said, the amount was "merely enough to restore the 1949 level of state support."

The teachers said much more money would be needed "to catch up with Russian education in terms of standards established for teachers, the ratio of teachers to pupils, and the prestige afforded the teaching profession through salary and other recognition."

Three Main Points

Three things are imperative for uplifting the quality of teaching, the association said. They are:

"1. High standards of teacher preparation... we too frequently have resorted to temporary certifications, emergency programs and increased employment of teachers prepared years ago when standards were lower.

"2. Selectivity of personnel... in terms of personality, character, citizenship, moral and spiritual values, intelligence, scholarship, knowhow, interest and other essential traits.

"3. Prestige... as a nation we have not made teaching a career which is highly valued."

West Hurley Dist. 1 To Vote on Pumps

Qualified voters of the West Hurley Fire District No. 1, will vote Tuesday evening at a special election being held from 6 to 10 p. m. at West Hurley fire house on a proposition to issue bonds for purchase of two tankers-pumps, completely equipped, and to provide two buildings to house the equipment. The total cost will not exceed $55,000.

Installation of this equipment would place 99% of the homes in the fire district within three miles of a firehouse and result in a considerable reduction in insurance rates.

The district now has one pump in the area to serve approximately 32 square miles.

Mishaps Injure 4, 1 Arrest Made for Drunk Driving

Three persons were injured in a two-car collision at Manor Avenue and Charlotte Place Saturday, a boy was injured Sunday in a car-bicycle accident at Maiden Lane and Pine Street, and an arrest followed another mishap late last night near 530 Delaware Avenue.

Virginia Martello, 47, of 87 Wilson Avenue, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated after her car allegedly struck the car of Walter Trowbridge, 20, of 530 Delaware Avenue, while it was parked in front of that address.

A police report at midnight said the arrest was by Officers Joseph Kivlan and Leon Fitzgerald.

Pleads Innocent

Special City Judge Harry Gold today put the case over until Dec. 23, when the defendant pleaded innocent through her attorney, Charles J. Saccoman.

Sherwood E. Davis represented the district attorney's office. Reported "shaken up" in the two-car mishap at 3:15 p. m., Saturday at Manor Avenue and Charlotte Place were: Mildred Siller, 32, of 16 Charlotte Place, an expectant mother; Judy Siller, 7, of 16 Charlotte Place; and Saul Brumer, of 108 Home-Street, Mrs. Siller, the report said, was to be examined by her doctor.

The Siller car driven by Mrs. Siller was headed west on Charlotte Street, and the other car, owned and operated by Donald McAuliffe, 61, of 65 Roosevelt Avenue, was going east on the street.

Suffers Fractures

Donald Schryver Jr., 10, of 19 Schryver Court, suffered a fracture of the left leg, another of the left little finger, abrasions of the face, legs and hands when the bicycle on which he was riding and the car of Emil Lambiasi, 64, of 3 Westrum Street, (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Kennan Advises West Study Soviet Negotiation Proposal

LONDON (AP)—George F. Kennan warned last night that a "one-sided concentration of effort" on NATO and failure to consider Soviet offers to negotiate might increase the danger of a major war.

The former State Department policy planner told a radio audience that the west should not look to NATO "to provide the basic strength on which the security of the western world must rest."

Kennan said it would be "idle to suppose that the strengthening of NATO alone would provide the necessary climate and background for negotiations with the Soviet Union."

Premier Bulganin to western governments, he said, should not be received with "the quick assumption that there is no kernel of sincerity." Bulganin proposed negotiations and warned against the stationing of nuclear weapons in Europe.

"Moscow fights with all the political and psychological means at its command," the former ambassador to Moscow said, "and it will know how to take advantage, as indeed it already has in many ways, of any one-sided concentration of effort on our part."

"That is why we cannot afford to put all our eggs in the military basket, and to neglect the positive purposes—the things we ought to be doing, and would be (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Oudemool Asks All With Data to Talk

The controversy over alleged teen-age drinking in Ulster County bars—precipitated 10 days ago by the charges of a local minister—continued to balloon during the weekend with these developments:

1. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, minister of the Old Dutch Church, in his Sunday sermon called for all persons with evidence of the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors "to come forward and report them to the district attorney."

Proposes Committee

He also proposed the creation of a "watchdog" committee of citizens to cooperate with the authorities "in checking on the places where our young people gather" and the establishment of attractive meeting places for youth.

2. District Attorney Howard C. St. John said today that no other witnesses had presented themselves to him in connection with the allegations of the Rev. Mr. Oudemool that a minor in his congregation had been served alcoholic beverages in four area taverns on Friday evening, Dec. 6.

Jury to Hear Recording

3. The district attorney said that a tape recording of the controversial panel discussion Dec. 7 would be heard by the Ulster County Grand Jury later this week.

Participating in the discussion were the Rev. Mr. Oudemool, Harry Howard, a member of the local Alcoholic Beverages Control Board, and Robert Teetsel, proprietor of The Barn and chairman of the identification card committee of the Ulster County Hotel, Restaurant and Liquor Dealers Association.

Craig Spence, 17, of 180 Henry Street, to whom the drinks were allegedly served in the presence of the minister, served as moderator of the discussion, one of a series on Radio Station WSKN entitled "Forensic."

4. The Women's Guild of the Old Dutch Church unanimously endorsed the stand of the Rev. Mr. Oudemool in his "determined action to appraise the community of the 'comparative ease with which minors can secure alcoholic beverages.'"

5. A 16-year-old Kingston youth was arrested on a charge of public intoxication, arraigned in court this morning before Special Judge Harry Gold, given a suspended sentence of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Severely Injured Pilot Rescued in Plane Crash

DOWNSVILLE (AP)—A severely injured pilot was rescued yesterday after he crawled from his crashed plane and dragged himself about a mile down a snowy mountainside.

George B. Swartwood's cries for help finally were heard by a group of men at a country hotel. They went to his aid with a stretcher and a physician.

It was more than 15 hours after he crashed.

State police said Swartwood, about 35, of Binghamton, suffered a skull fracture, frost bite of both feet, face cuts, fractured ribs and a possible broken back.

He was taken to Delaware Valley Hospital at Walton, where his condition was reported as fair.

Troopers said Swartwood told them his light plane suddenly iced over Saturday night and he could not maintain altitude. They placed the time of the crash at about 6:20 p. m.

Swartwood said he regained consciousness about 9 a. m. yesterday, crawled to a power line and followed its cleared path down the mountain.

The temperature was below freezing overnight and slightly warmer yesterday.

Swartwood, an instructor for the Tri-Cities Aviation School of Binghamton, was the owner of the single-engine Stinson he was flying.

The school said Swartwood was returning from Poughkeepsie after delivering a freight shipment for International Business Machines Corp.

Meat Inspection Program Starts

ALBANY (AP)—A statewide meat inspection program, operated locally with approval of the State Health Department, went into effect today.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, the state health commissioner, said the new regulation would "provide a safe, wholesome meat supply for all residents of the state."

He said more than 98 per cent of the meat in New York now would be either federally or state inspected. Meat from animals slaughtered on the farm for personal consumption is exempt from state inspection.

The state sanitary code requires a community that undertakes a meat-inspection program to have approval of the State Health Department. The regulation does not require communities to establish a program.

Thirty-one local meat-inspection programs have been or are in the process of being approved by the department, Hilleboe said.

Ready to Cooperate

Eisenhower coupled his grim but apparently confident demand for action with a declaration that the United States and its allies stand ready to join Russia in an effort to bring the forces threatening the world "under rational control."

But until that can be done, the allies must employ their strength "to sustain peace and freedom."

"The forces arrayed against us are formidable but not irresistible," Eisenhower declared to the first heads-of-government session to be held by the eight-year-old North Atlantic Treaty Organization of 15 nations.

For the public opening session of the conference, Eisenhower and the other government chiefs sat at a circular table in the conference room of the Palais de Chaillot, which is NATO headquarters in Paris. The table was covered with blue felt.

Dominant Figure

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain was placed to the President's right and Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak to his left.

The President, who had a slight stroke only three weeks ago, was easily the dominant figure at the table. His task was to re-establish American leadership with Russia's Sputnik and missile triumphs, to win the European allies to a new defense strategy based on nuclear missiles and to revitalize the unity of NATO.

In advance of the opening speech, he already had met privately with Macmillan and French Premier Felix Gaillard.

Eisenhower addressed his remarks to the council but they were directed toward a worldwide audience, including Russia. He said at one point the free world is willing to join Russia in bringing the new weapons of mass destruction under control.

Must Abandon False Thoughts

But to the United States and its allies he declared "false" thoughts of which we have all been more or less guilty must be abandoned. Among these he included the belief that freedom was inherently more productive than Communism and the assumption that "the triumph of freedom over despotism is inevitable."

"We are in a fast-running current of the great stream of history," the President said.

Efforts will long be needed to steer the world toward true peace."

All Attentive

"This is a high endeavor. But it is one which the free nations of the world can accomplish."

Leaders of the NATO nations listened intently as the President spoke in a loud, emphatic voice. The room was packed with diplomats and correspondents.

The President spoke sitting down. He made only a few insignificant departures from his prepared text. He prefaced his speech with a brief extemporaneous remark thanking Premier Felix Gaillard and Luxembourg Prime Minister Joseph Bech, the chairman of the NATO council meeting, for their opening greetings and added, "in particular, I appreciate your good wishes about my health."

Eisenhower read his 2,000-word speech at his usual rapid pace. He chewed up a number of words and repeated many, but that is the way he habitually speaks. There was little if any evidence of speech defect due to his stroke Nov. 25.

This first major policy speech by the recently ailing Eisenhower, who has impressed Paris with his vigor and determination after his recent mild stroke, was almost entirely inspirational.

It was to be followed later in the day by another statement offering U. S. intermediate range missiles to the European allies along with stockpiles of American-controlled nuclear warheads.

The President was expected to argue that only by thus arming allied forces to meet the strategic needs of the missile era can they (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

To Offer Missiles

Urbahn, Brayton and Burrows have been the architects for a wide variety of projects, including schools in New York City, Long Island and Connecticut, the Bronx Mental Hospital, additions to the Matteawan State Hospital at Beacon, and the auxiliary structures for the Ogdensburg Bridge.

Newburgh Bridge Plans Continue, Financing Span Is Still Problem

Plans for the Newburgh-Beacon bridge are due to continue even though financing of the project is still a problem to be dealt with, John S. Stillman, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, indicated today.

Urbahn, Brayton and Burrows, of New York, he said, has been retained as architectural consultants on plans for the proposed span, but no date can be set for start of $38,000,000 project until at least $14,000,000 is made available for building the substructure.

Complete Preliminary Plans

Preliminary plans for structural design have been completed by Modjeski and Masters, Harrisburg, Pa. Detailed plans are being prepared for the substructure, and land is being acquired for highway approaches.

The authority recently revealed that it is not in a position this year to authorize a bond issue for start of the project, and indicated it seeks state or federal aid or both.

To Prepare Designs

The architectural consultants, Stillman said, will work with Modjeski and Masters, and will develop over-all architectural concepts for the main bridge span and its component parts; such as piers, portals, abutments, railings and other items. The firm will also prepare designs for entry and exit ramps at the approaches and give architectural service to the administration and maintenance building, toll collection plaza, and house on the bridge approaches.

This arrangement, Stillman said, will "assure the development of a consistent aesthetic concept for the bridge, its approaches, and its adjoining structures."

Modjeski and Masters have been design engineers for bridges in many parts of the country, including the recently-completed Benjamin Franklin Bridge across the Delaware River at Philadelphia and the Ogdensburg Bridge now under construction across the St. Lawrence.

Urbahn, Brayton and Burrows have been the architects for a wide variety of projects, including schools in New York City, Long Island and Connecticut, the Bronx Mental Hospital, additions to the Matteawan State Hospital at Beacon, and the auxiliary structures for the

Body of Dutchesse Woman Is Found In Own Reservoir

The body of Mrs. Walter R. Bedell, 53, socially prominent orthodontist's wife, was recovered from eight feet of water in a reservoir on her Millbrook, Dutchess County, estate Saturday evening.

The assistant Dutchess County Medical examiner issued a preliminary verdict of suicide pending an inquest. He said death was caused by asphyxiation due to drowning.

Millbrook state police said Mrs. Bedell's body was discovered by her son-in-law, John Gilbert MacKenzie and his brother, Gordon C. MacKenzie.

The body was recovered by state police with grappling hooks. It was reported Mrs. Bedell had been under treatment for what was described as "a nervous condition."

State police said Mrs. Bedell had left her house at about 3 p. m. Saturday, ostensibly to gather greens for holiday decorations. Her body was discovered about 5 p. m.

Memorial
In loving memory of Frank E. Alexander who passed away 6 years ago today, December 16, 1951:
It's not the tears at the moment shed
That tells how loved was the soul that fled;
'Tis the silent tears frequently wept
And a sweet remembrance forever kept.

Catskill Man Dies In Saturday Crash

Daley Deamer, 44, of R.D. 2, Catskill, was killed Saturday when his car careened off the Green Lake Road, three miles east of Leeds, sideswiped two trees and crashed head-on into a third. The accident happened shortly after mid-night. State Police said the car of Deamer went off the right side of the road and sideswiped the trees before coming to a rest head-on into the third tree. A verdict of accidental death was given by Greene County Coroner Dr. Curtis Lacy, who pronounced Deamer dead at the scene from a fractured neck.

Christmas Mail Rush Indicated By Stuffed Box

A stuffed mail box near central post office Sunday indicated that the final rush of Christmas mail is well under way, and Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk said today that 27 extra men have been hired, to date, to handle the heavy volume of mail. More extra men will be added, he said, as they are needed this week.

A police report at 10:32 p. m. yesterday noted that a box near the central post office was loaded to overflowing and an employee inside the building was notified. Cancellations yesterday, the postmaster said, about tripled the normal volume. Incoming mail was also heavy, and will continue heavy through the week.

Deaths

By The Associated Press

Announce New Way to Drain Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New tablet invention for sinus sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pains

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet invention which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas. Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the 30 days in jail and placed on probation for six months.

It was also reported by the Associated Press today that the Dutchess County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board on Saturday night rejected a proposal to extend the closing of taverns until 3 a. m.

The Dutchess County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association asked for the extension from the present hours of 1 a. m. weekdays and 2 a. m. Sundays.

Didn't Drink at Bar

District Attorney St. John said today that his "door is open" to any persons who desire to testify in connection with alleged sale of alcoholic beverages to minors in area taverns.

In connection with the arrest of the local youth made Sunday night on a charge of intoxication, St. John said he had questioned the boy and that the liquor had not been obtained from a local bar or tavern.

He said the youth, whose parents are separated, had several drinks at the home of a friend, 18, whose name was not disclosed by the district attorney. The facts will be presented to the grand jury this week, he told The Freeman.

Had Few With Friend
The youth was arrested by Officer Guernsey Burger Jr., on Foxhall Avenue near Garden Street, about 11:35 p. m. Sunday, as he was returning to his home after having a few "whiskies" at the home of his friend.

It was reported that the youth's mother was ill at the time.

sentencing the youth, Judge Gold ordered him to report to the city marshal, John R. Mayone to whom he will be responsible for the next six months.

Considers Ill Mother
The judge told the youth that because of the situation in his family he felt that, "any fine that I might impose upon you will certainly penalize your mother, who is ill, rather than yourself. You are starting rather young on this path which can lead to no good. You understand that, don't you?"

The answer: "Yes sir." "Now this court will give you a 30-day suspended sentence, plus six months probation. You will report to the city marshal and do as he advises. After I am through talking to you, you will remain here and the marshal will give you certain instructions that you are to follow. If by any chance these instructions are not followed by you to the letter, that he lays down, you will be brought back before this court and you will then be sentenced to 30 days in the Ulster County jail. Is that clear?"

The answer: "Yes sir." The answer: "Episcopal." "And do you know who the Episcopal minister is?" The answer: "No, I do not, sir." "Directed to Clergyman" "I am instructing the marshal to impose that as one of the conditions of your probation, and you will visit the Rev. Mr. Shellenberger, whom you will find an understanding gentleman, and he perhaps will be able to assist you in your problem. This by your own admission is not the first time you have been drinking, although it is the first time you were arrested."

The answer: "Yes, sir." "During this six months period, of course, you will not only be expected to avoid any drink, but also any type of difficulty youngsters might find themselves involved in. Now, as I said before, strict compliance against the law of selling liquor to youngsters is not the whole answer. It takes parent influence. The upbringing of the child and also influence of the church is necessary. I feel that even if the strict letter of the law were complied with, boys like you, if you wanted a drink, you could find a way to do it. It also takes a little character on your part to find a better way to occupy your mind, rather than to get involved in drinking. Now you will also be required to answer any questions that the police may ask you after you leave here."

The answer: "Yes, sir." Consider Home Conditions "Now, certainly, this court could never condone the selling of liquor to minors contrary to law by liquor stores, taverns or restaurants. However, this court feels that strict compliance to that law is not the correct answer to such a situation as you are involved in. It takes influence in the home upon the youngster as well as influence of the church. Do you go to church?" The answer: "No sir." "What faith are you?" The answer: "I was never christened." "Do you know of what faith your parents are?"

Recommend Steps
In a statement which he read to the congregation, he recommended the following steps:

"1. All who have evidence of the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors must come forward and report them to the district attorney."

"My confidential files show that the violations have been extensive. Also, that the unlawful traffic has been going on for years. But people have been reluctant to communicate with the proper authorities."

"What is holding back a complete clean-up of the present situation is fear. A cover of cowardice silences the county. Citizens refuse to witness for fear of economic, social and political reprisals. They feel that their testimony will jeopardize their job, office or reputation."

A further truth is this: Many people care more for profits than for persons. More for security than for the sanctity of self. They would rather be respectable than right. Comfortable than crusading. It is all a part of the perilous ease and softness of the American people today, pointed up by recent Russian toughness.

Makes Appeal
I appeal to you, therefore, to stand up, speak out and be counted on this crucial matter of law enforcement. In this way we can blow the lid off wrongdoing and clean up the mess in our midst."

"2. To keep the county clean in this respect we must create an informal citizen's committee that will cooperate with the authorities in check on the places where our young people gather. Too long have we neglected to see where they go and what they do."

The Rev. Mr. Oudemool, in his sermon, said that during the week "swift and vigorous action" had been taken in the matter of serving alcoholic beverages to minors in Ulster County but that it was "just a beginning."

He told his congregation that there were some people who felt, perhaps, that too much fuss was being made over something not very important.

Boy Blames Drinking
He recalled that a youth who several years ago had been a member of the Black Cats, a teenage gang whose members carried knives and conducted themselves in a vicious manner, had come to him recently. During the course of their conversation the boy told how he got started as a Black Cat. At 14 he had been served alcoholic beverages at bars in the area, he told the minister.

The Rev. Mr. Oudemool deplored the serving of young people—13, 14, 15, 16, 17 years of age.

Stresses Seriousness
"It's far more serious than some suppose," he stated.

Must Open Eyes
"And our eyes must be open for all irregularities. This proposal is in the nature of a watchdog group. I myself will proceed in this direction. Are there others who will join me? We don't need more laws. All the legal organs necessary are present. What we do need is continuous checking, prompt reporting and strict enforcement of the law. Every citizen has a responsibility here."

3. Our communities over the county lack adequate meeting places for teenagers. We must provide facilities so attractive, enjoyable and creative that young people will prefer them to other places of temptation.

Women's Guild Statement
The Women's Guild of the Old Dutch Church said in its statement that it unanimously endorses and "upholds the recent determined action taken by our pastor, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, to apprise our community of the comparative ease with which minors may secure alcoholic beverages at nearby taverns."

"We stand ready to aid our pastor in any way possible to impress upon society the evil of such condition.

"We beseech all peoples everywhere to join in a united crusade to eradicate this apparent disregard of a law that must necessarily be enforced for the protection and welfare of our children. Each must and should pledge himself to a policy of constant vigilance and 'follow-through' to ensure no further violations."

Two Burglaries Are Reported by Port Ewen Places
Two Port Ewen establishments were entered some time Saturday night and small amounts of cash taken from cash registers.

Entered were Loease's Volkswagen Sales and Service and the Calso Gas Station next door, both located on Route 9W.

Both places were entered by breaking windows. Cash registers were forced open in each case, heavily damaging the registers, it was reported.

County Investigator Arthur H. Brown and Deputy Sheriff Peter Peterson of the Ulster County sheriff's office and Sgt. Lini Baker and Cpl. Al Chieco, both BCI, of the Highland state police, investigated.

Nursing CommitteeDesignates Mrs. King

WOODSTOCK — Mrs. Charles King was elected president of Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee at the meeting held last week.

Also designated was Mrs. Isaac Smullen, vice president;

Mrs. Alex Sharpe, secretary and Mrs. Clarence Snyder, treasurer.

The all-day meeting began with work on cancer dressings.

Following lunch the regular meeting was held and annual reports were heard. Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse also gave her report.

She said that since the population of the Woodstock area has increased considerably, and since there are so many elderly people here living alone, she feels there is an ever growing need for more health education and for more bedside care.

The committee voted to make contributions to the Community Christmas fund and to the Christmas fund of the Foster Children's Committee.

Plans were made for the next meeting of the Senior Citizen's Club.

Woodstock P-TA Panel Discusses School Functions

WOODSTOCK — A panel discussion of "What Should Our Schools Accomplish?" was a feature of the largely attended Woodstock P-TA meeting this week.

In a short summation each of the panel members presented his views. This was followed by questions from the audience, and discussion by the panel.

M. Clifford Miller, principal at Kingston High School, expressed his philosophy of the topic by stating that schools should provide the basic skills — mathematics, history, language, arts; basic knowledge of our world, its present and past; basic attitudes and habits, such as the ability to live successfully and agreeably with others; the possession of physical mental and moral health, and the accomplishment of self-discipline.

John H. Moehle, principal of Ontario Central School, said that in addition to a foundation of basic subject matter, which would equip the child to help him become an educated individual (able to adjust to all situations), schools should help develop a desire for physical motion; the ability to imitate; a love of power; the art of day-dreaming; a sense of adventure, curiosity and humor; the ability to accept failure; the development of imaginative thinking.

Mrs. Joseph Torraca, assistant district attorney speaking from the standpoint of the law, feels that the parents' interest and training, or lack of it, more than the school's is responsible for the cases that appear in juvenile court. The school should assist in recognizing those individuals who are potential delinquents and should protect the majority of their children from their influence.

The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra's opinion of the school's responsibility is that the public education should teach:

1. The tool of the English language and its uses; 2. History, mathematical procedures; 3. Standards that measure up to college entrance requirements; 4. Vocational and trade facilities — only in addition to the first two listed above; 5. The development of essential loyalties, such as the Ten Commandments, the law, family honor, and the community.

The discussion was guided by Theodore Lee, moderator. Following the program refreshments were prepared and served by the mothers of the second grade pupils.

What will tomorrow's telephone look like?

Will your phone of the future have a dial built right in the mouthpiece? Or will it be specially designed for a particular room in your house? These are but two of the many possibilities being tested right now. Not just in telephone laboratories, but in actual use in customers' homes and offices. Passing the tests of both engineers and users is quite a trick. So whatever tomorrow's telephone looks like, you can be sure it will be the most convenient, useful, dependable — and attractive — it is possible to make.

Every telephone advance, whether it is a new instrument or a new service, starts with your needs and desires. But making your wants into realities takes a continuing program of research, expansion and improvement. It is a big program and a costly one.

And only a company with sound earnings over the long pull can raise the money to provide the newest and best in telephone service and still keep the price to you low.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 16, 1957

SHOPPERS' CONVENIENCE

Stores throughout the City of Kingston are open nights until 9 o'clock for the convenience of Christmas shoppers. The many shoppers in the city and surrounding area, especially men and women who are employed during the day and who have no other opportunity for shopping than at night appreciate this convenience.

Now that the local stores are open nights for the people's convenience and the satisfaction of their needs, the people should take advantage of the accommodation and start their Christmas shopping tonight.

Through the advertising columns of The Freeman, the local stores are acquainting area residents with the quality merchandise they have stocked for the holiday purchases. The local merchants are prepared to furnish wares and services the people desire. Nothing has been left undone to enable shoppers to obtain the merchandise they want. They are prepared to furnish the wares and services the people need.

Avoid the last minute rush and start doing your Christmas shopping tonight.

Men launching moons in outer space amaze us. We find it difficult to make our way to the fifth floor of an office building in a self-service elevator.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

It is common to hear someone remark, in the earlier days of December, "You know, I don't really feel the Christmas spirit yet." Generally this attitude changes as the month rushes toward its climax. The bite of winter cold in the air, the sound of carols everywhere, the smell of evergreen, the gleam and glitter of myriad lights—all these things touch remembered chords in our hearts until they begin to sing with the joy of the season.

Yet it is well to ask ourselves, even as our spirits warm to the beloved sights and sounds, whether we do indeed feel the true meaning of Christmas. For this meaning is not a surface thing at all, not a matter of colored lights and fragrant odors and sweet music. Those things are pleasing in themselves; they can be pleasing even to one who thinks of the holiday season as a pleasant time without religious significance. But they are merely the wrapping on the package.

Beneath it lies the glorious central fact of Christmas, that on this day nearly 2,000 years ago the Son of God came among men. Only when we are deeply aware of that, and of its meaning for mankind, have we caught the Christmas spirit.

Then there's the new detergent that's so much fun to use you'll want to get your clothes dirty just for the privilege of testing it.

TIME CREEPS UP

A middle-aged of our acquaintance who tends to minimize the passage of the years has been having rather a rough time of it lately. He has concluded that there is a conspiracy afoot to remind him to act his age.

It began when he got to watching the current crop of old movies on TV. There was something rather pleasant about seeing actors and actresses of his own generation cavorting on the screen with the gay freshness of youth—until it dawned on him sharply that these antics took place 20-odd years ago.

Hard upon this shattering realization came the discovery that the Dionnes were no longer chubby little girls in calendar pictures. First Annette was married, and then Cecile; they were 23. Twenty-three! Our friend now understands that he'll have to erase his memories, or hold his tongue about them, or admit to being of the middle generation. He thinks he'll go whole hog and choose the latter course.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE VICE PRESIDENT

The build-up for Vice President Nixon in the weekly magazines and in some newspapers is unfortunate because it might one day be believed that Nixon is really responsible for policies or conduct of the present Administration. Actually, during three illnesses President Eisenhower has relinquished none of his constitutional authorities or responsibilities and he could not have done so, if he would.

The President of the United States has no way of delegating any of his constitutional functions while he remains in office. In this respect, the Constitution does not recognize the President as a human being. It does not take cognizance of the possibility of his being sick for a day or a week or a month. It does not assume that he might be so tired that he would like to take off a couple of weeks. Our current President likes to play golf; Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman liked to fish. The Constitution makes no provision for anyone to sit in the White House to mind the store while the President takes a break.

To the Vice President may be delegated ceremonial duties, travel abroad, acting as an ambassador of good will, but he cannot sign a single document, make an appointment or do anything of a constitutional or legal nature as long as the President lives or he has not declared himself disabled.

When President Eisenhower had his stroke, Vice President Nixon spent time at the White House. He took with him the Attorney General probably to make sure that he made no constitutional errors. Actually, it was the White House staff that carried on in the name of the President. The White House staff, from Sherman Adams down, consists of men and women with no constitutional responsibility. They belong to the President. They report only to him. They have no obligations to Congress or to the people.

Woodrow Wilson was completely out of touch with the world, but his White House staff continued to function in his name—and their actions were constitutional as long as he permitted them so to act even if he was incapable of knowing what they were doing.

Any man, President or teamster, can have a stroke. President Eisenhower takes an anti-coagulant. The object of the anti-coagulant is to prevent his blood from clotting. That may be a reason why a particular stroke is slight, but the point is that because a man is President of the United States does not safeguard him from the laws of nature. Therefore, for the safety of the country, the Constitution should be amended to provide for a procedure to declare the President temporarily or permanently disabled and to put the Vice President in his place, with full constitutional authority, temporarily or permanently.

It will take a bevy of lawyers to write such an amendment. First will come up the question as to who is to declare the President disabled. Sherman Adams proposes that that should be done by the Cabinet which is impractical because most of the Cabinet officers would be afraid to say that a President is disabled. Such men did not exist in the Wilson or the Roosevelt Administrations. In fact, the doctors in both Administrations lied about their President's illness.

On the other hand, a prolonged debate on the state of the President's health would do no good. Nor could it be left to a committee of doctors unless they were sworn to tell the whole truth. Doctors are bound by professional ethics to their patients and there would be a conflict of moral obligations.

The probability is that no clarification of this issue has been made because no good idea comes up for doing it. Meanwhile, we have a President who has vascular difficulties.

This much is certain: neither the Congress nor the people of the United States desire or expect Sherman Adams and his staff to act for the President of the United States. It would seem to me that a Congressional committee might ask for the opinion of our two living ex-Presidents, Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman, on this subject. They know the difficulties of being President and of the limitations upon a President's private life. Hoover is no longer a partisan and Truman is not likely to think of such a subject in a partisan framework. Surely, they could add to our knowledge and thought.

Celiac Disease in Infants

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Several parents have inquired about celiac disease. This is a disorder of nutrition in infants which is usually shown by distention, or swelling of the abdomen, and a chronic diarrhea.

Its cause is still obscure, but it is probably the result of disturbance of the digestive processes and poor assimilation of food rather than the lack of food. The mechanism by which it arises is complex because it has so far been impossible to pinpoint any single cause.

The treatment of celiac disease is aimed primarily at maintaining the nutrition of the infant by giving a diet of those foods which the child seems to be able to absorb and utilize best. The disorder may last only a short time or extend over months, or even years. However, the outlook is probably better now than it used to be because of the greater knowledge of nutrition which has been developed over the past few years.

TWO RELATED problems are presented by mothers, one of whom asks for a discussion of "tongue-tie" in children, and the other of whom says that her four-year-old boy appears to hear well, though does not talk except to say "mama" and "daddy" and a few other similar baby words.

The term "tongue-tie" has been largely abandoned because there is little reason to believe that difficulty with speech is often associated with an anatomical defect of the tongue which this name implies. Thus, I suspect that the first mother's problem, like the second, is a problem of delayed talking.

Often this is not as serious as parents believe and quite a lot of small children understand quite well and suddenly blossom forth as great talkers when it seems worth their while to do so. But if it seems as though something is seriously wrong, expert advice should be obtained. Most physicians and many teachers are familiar with this problem and can advise parents where to obtain the needed attention.

A DIFFICULT and sad problem comes from Mrs. J. She says that after a football injury it was discovered that her 14-year-old son had hydronephrosis. An attempt was made to remove the obstruction, but according to Mrs. J., "the kidneys and ureters are enlarged approximately 20 times" and they do not know what to do now. Hydronephrosis is a dilation of that portion of the kidney known as the pelvis. Some cases seem to be of congenital or inborn nature and some the result of obstruction preventing the free passage of urine. The fact that it was discovered following a football accident was almost certainly pure chance, since there is doubtless no connection between these two circumstances.

The obstruction causing hydronephrosis should be removed, if possible. In some cases if the hydronephrosis involves only one kidney and the other is normal, the diseased kidney should be removed since there is generally enough function in one kidney to take care of the needs of the body.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A new organization tentatively named the Advance Research Projects Agency, or ARPA for short, is being set up in Department of Defense to develop anti-missile missiles and other new weapons for future warfare.

ARPA will operate independently of the Army, Navy and Air Force. It will be headed by a civilian, not yet chosen, who will report directly to Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy.

This setup gets around the problem of inter-service rivalry and duplication of effort which have been heavily criticized by congressmen. They have been held by some critics to be responsible for delays in American missile programs.

Creation of ARPA represents a radical reorganization in the Pentagon. It will make Department of Defense an operational agency for the first time. Previous secretaries of defense have bent over backwards trying to keep their headquarters a policy-making and coordinating organization.

Even former Secretary Charles E. Wilson's "ten little Indian vice presidents," or assistant secretaries of defense had no operating responsibility.

THE NEW ADVANCE Research Projects Agency marks a step toward greater unification of the armed services. ARPA will be able to call on Army, Navy and Air Force for personnel and also for funds for its various projects.

But only when new weapons are fully developed will they be assigned to one of the services for production and operation.

The decision to set up a separate advance research agency was based in part on the fact that some of the new weapons are so fantastic that no one in the existing armed services could handle them.

No country has ever fought a war with missiles. Their strategic and tactical employment is still a matter of theory. But their development since the end of the fighting in Korea has been phenomenal.

IT IS GENERALLY conceded that if the United States got into another Korea-type war, it would not hold back on the use of nuclear weapons. Some of the small nuclear weapons now being developed for tactical use offer considerable promise for this type of operation.

One example that can be talked about is the Army's Redstone missile, with 175-mile range. Using solid fuels, it would refuel people to handle. Other dual-purpose small nuclear weapons are being developed for both offensive and defensive use.

There is some belief now that small wars could be fought with nuclear weapons, without growing into big wars. In the past, the theory has been that the use of any nuclear weapons would automatically call for the start of World War III.

DEVELOPING NEWER and better nuclear weapons, including missile carriers, is a continuous and expensive process.

For instance, Department of Defense has already approved the establishment of bases for long-range intercontinental ballistic missiles—even before the ICBM itself has been perfected. Development of the anti-missile missile will have to run along side by side with development of the more sophisticated ICBM and IRBM which will be able to dodge the anti-missile missiles. Both weapons will require built-in electronic brains and calculating machines of tremendous complexity.

This kind of business will apparently go on until the major powers come to their senses. When they realize that this competition is too expensive, they may finally be forced to sign disarmament agreements and keep them.

Toothsome Tale

BELOIT, Wis. (AP)—Ever see a dog with a tooth seven inches long, five inches high and two inches wide? Farmer Lyman Totten saw his dog drag home a tooth just that size recently. The pup had dug it up in a farm field. The chomper was taken to Beloit College where geology instructor John Ostrom identified it as from a prehistoric "hairy" mammoth. The huge beasts became extinct some 10,000 years ago.

Q—Where was the world's longest suspension bridge recently opened?

A—It is the Mackinac Bridge that stretches five miles across the Straits of Mackinac, joining Michigan's two peninsulas for the first time since the glacial age. Its 7,400-foot suspension span dwarfs any other.

Q—Is it the male or the female musk-deer that produces musk?

A—The male.

Q—What is the only spice tree that yields two spices?

A—The nutmeg tree from which mace and nutmeg are obtained. Nutmeg is the dried fruit of the tree; mace is the membrane which covers the kernel of the fruit.

Q—At what rate does the current of the Amazon River flow?

A—About one and one-half miles an hour in the dry season, and about three miles an hour when the river is swollen by rains.

Big Rise in Jobless Is Seen If AFL-CIO Wins Raises

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 — More pay for less work! Fewer days in the work week at even higher pay than before! More and more overtime pay for all the other days of the week!

This is what the AFL-CIO convention has just proposed as a cure for the current recession. It looks instead like the road of bankruptcy for many small businesses and a big increase in unemployment throughout America if any such program is adopted.

Applied in 1930 For the doctrine which, in every unemployment crisis, would supply "more purchasing power" sounds plausible, but it is illusory. The theory was applied in the 1930s, and it failed to bring recovery. The reason is that merely increasing the purchasing power of more and more consumers does not help the heavy-goods industries of the country. It doesn't bolster the whole economy.

This was discovered between 1933 and 1939 when, despite the leaf-raking and "made work" programs of the New Deal "to increase purchasing power," the unemployment figure after seven years was close to 10,000,000. It was only when World War II began and the heavy-goods industries in America were brought back into production that a noticeable decrease in unemployment occurred.

The excuse or argument made by the AFL-CIO leadership is that corporation profits are high. One look, however, at the fourth-quarter reports for 1957 will convince any fair-minded person that American business has gone into a tailspin. Insistence by union leadership at a time like this on moving costs upward can only mean forcing many smaller businesses to the wall.

Signs of Resistance As for the automobile industry, which has raised its prices recently due to high wage costs, there are already signs of buyers' resistance. Hence, if the auto workers' union insists on pushing the wage scales higher, the result can only be widespread unemployment among workers in automobile manufacturing plants and in the factories that produce parts and accessories.

If the increases in wages were accompanied by a corresponding increase in productivity, the story would be different. That has not happened in recent years and has been the chief cause of inflation and high prices. The theory is persistently advanced by American labor leaders today that more pay is due the workers irrespective of the amount of work done.

If the wages of the workers could be really related to profits at all times—and not just when profits are high—then logically wages should go down when profits decline. But that almost never happens. Wage rates move upward always. Even if fixed at a certain level for a while, they never go down until an economic depression of serious proportions prevails throughout the country.

What the AFL-CIO leaders told the nation after their convention last week is the most discouraging piece of business news since the 1930's. It means that the labor chiefs are ready to force the present recession into a deep depression regardless of consequences.

Can't Stand Strike It might be thought that employers do not have to grant the wage increases demanded. This presupposes that there is such a thing as "collective bargaining" in America. Today "collective bludgeoning" would be a more realistic term. For no big industry can stand a costly strike. The employers are licked the day the big labor unions issue their demands. And the Federal government stands by and lets this organized economic monopoly fix prices.

The present administration, like its predecessors, woos the labor vote by promising that it will not favor amendment of the anti-trust laws to prevent price-fixing by labor unions through industry-wide "bargaining" contracts. That's why so many conservative Republicans have lost faith in the administration.

The attempt, moreover to win the labor vote isn't doing the Eisenhower administration any good. For the convention at Atlantic City, after listening to a soft-soap speech by Secretary of Labor Mitchell—who expressed opposition to the enactment of any Federal "right to work" laws—turned thumbs down on his mild proposals for reform in the domain of racketeering and voting rights inside unions and for laws to insure honest handling of labor-union funds.

Against Racketeering The AFL-CIO claims it is against racketeering, but it is getting ready to block anti-racketeering legislation on the specious plea that "union busting" is involved. AFL-CIO insists usually that it is interested in the welfare of all the workingmen but today it is getting ready to abandon at least 5,000,000 workers to unemployment and suffering. It is demanding uneconomic increases in wages and unjustified reductions in the hours worked. Nobody in government wants to interfere with the legitimate functions of labor unions, but the country is becoming alarmed over the abuse of power by labor leaders. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Ingalls Looks Like Certainty to Run

ELMIRA (AP)—Republican leaders of four southern tier counties are expected to pick Assemblyman George L. Ingalls to run for the U. S. representative seat left vacant by the resignation of W. Sterling Cole.

GOP leaders from Broome, Tioga, Chemung and Steuben counties met here today to name a candidate.

Ingalls said Saturday in Binghamton he would accept the nomination if it is offered to him. Observers generally thought it was certain he would be picked. The term runs to Dec. 31, 1958. The term runs to Dec. 31, 1958. The term runs to Dec. 31, 1958.

Ingalls, 43, an attorney, was first elected to the state assembly in 1952 and was re-elected in 1954 and 1956.

Francis P. Hogan of Hornell, an assistant state labor commissioner, has said he expects to be the Democratic candidate for the seat.

Jersey Youngster Dies In Railroad Mishap

NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (AP)—Ten-year-old Anthony Egizi was struck and killed by a train Saturday while walking along the New York Central tracks near his home.

John Astalos, 59, of Newburgh, N. Y., engineer of the passenger train, told police he saw the youngster and several other boys seconds after he brought the train around a bend.

"I blew the whistle and applied the air brakes in emergency position, but I was afraid we had hit someone," he said.

He said when the train stopped he got out of the cab and found the boy lying next to the track.

Stalin's Gamble Basis for Russia's Position in World

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Stalin could grin in his tomb, he'd be grinning now. He was one of the greatest gamblers in history, and he won. Look at NATO, the atomic bomb, sputniks, missiles.

His tactics forced the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) into existence. But it was his determination which laid the foundations for NATO's present confusion and uncertainty.

At this moment he has been downgraded, a form of disgrace, because he typified the ruthlessness of the communist state, and his heirs would like to obscure that part of their history.

But when Stalin became boss after Lenin's death in the mid-1920s, he inherited an impoverished, almost medieval country of about 125 million people. Today 900 million live under communism in Russia and other countries.

Advances His Plan

He forced his people, for two generations into a meager existence so the resources of Russia could be concentrated on bringing her abreast of the United States.

It was under Stalin that Russia laid the basis for its amazing military, technical, scientific, engineering and educational progress.

After the war when this country had the atomic bomb—and the capacity of smashing the Soviets—Stalin spurned all talk of disarmament and its possibility of safety, and pushed the creation of Russia's own atomic weapons.

A Big Gamble

He was taking a gamble—a terrible one—for if war did start, Russia and Stalin and Communism could have been destroyed together. By 1949 Russia had its own atomic bomb, by 1953 the hydrogen bomb.

That put Russia close to military equality with the United States, which in quantity of bombs was still ahead.

The startling progress which Russia this year revealed with its satellites, missiles, and jet planes had its origin under Stalin and, in some ways, put Russia ahead of the United States. Those things are not the product of the four years since his death.

Forces Alliance

By blockading Berlin and tabbing off Czechoslovakia, Stalin forced the Western nations into the NATO alliance in 1949. And when he let the Korean War start in 1950, NATO really began its military buildup.

NATO was the biggest menace Russia had to worry about since World War II.

But now the military might of Russia—with its beginnings under Stalin—has the NATO partners floundering, as shown by their preparations for the Paris meeting which opened today.

It's been customary, since Russia's new boss, Nikita Khrushchev, downgraded him two years ago, to push Stalin into the background. He won't stay pushed. He's like a bloody ghost haunting mankind.

Slate Re-elected

UTICA (AP)—Samuel J. Talarico of Utica will govern District Local 1 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union for another four years.

Talarico and all other officers were re-elected to four-year terms beginning Jan. 1, the union announced Saturday.

District Local 1 represents union members throughout the state, except those in the Buffalo and New York City metropolitan areas. The election was conducted through its seven areas: Utica, Albany, Binghamton, Watertown, Syracuse, Rochester and Jamestown.

IS THERE A MASTERPIECE IN BILLY'S FUTURE?

Billy dreams of painting his own "Mona Lisa" some day—hailed as the artistic genius of his age! But only the right kind of schooling can make his dream come true.

Unhappily, Billy lives in a community where there's a serious shortage of classrooms, teachers and good schoolbooks. That means less schooling for Billy than he needs.

Let's see that this doesn't happen in our schools. You can help by supporting our School Board, by attending PTA meetings and school conferences.

NY Finishes 15.1 Miles Of Road Since Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—New York State has completed 15.1 miles of superhighway in the 17 months since the federal aid highway act was passed in 1956.

The federal government is paying 90 per cent of the cost and the state the other 10 per cent.

The highways are part of the interstate system, which when completed will form a 41,000-mile network of controlled-access superhighways criss-crossing the nation.

New York's mileage cost $12,466,000, the Bureau of Public Roads announced Saturday. Work underway totals 46.6 miles, to cost $160,635,000.

Friday 13 Lucky Day at Kingston Savings and Loan

"Friday the thirteenth" proved to be far from "unlucky" for the directors and shareholders of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

At the shareholders' meeting held Friday evening, December 13, for the nomination of directors to be voted on at the annual meeting to be held Friday, Jan. 10, it was announced that the total assets of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston had, that day, reached $13,000,000, making it one of the largest savings and loan associations in the Central Hudson valley.

The Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, located at 267 Wall Street, began business in 1892. It was known that the $13,000,000 mark was being approached for some time, but at approximately 11 a. m. on Friday, December 13, the mark was reached and following the shareholders' meeting that evening it was announced to the board of directors.

New Technique In Apple Breeding

A new technique in apple breeding which may substantially shorten the time required for new varieties to gain commercial acceptance is described by John Einset, fruit breeder at Cornell's New York State Experiment Station, a unit of the State University at Geneva.

The usual procedure requires the planting each year of thousands of seeds obtained from fruit produced by cross-pollination of two known parents, explains Einset. These seeds are planted in greenhouse beds, grown into seedling whips six to eight feet tall, then set in hedge rows in the field where they remain until they produce fruit, a matter of eight to ten years. These fruits are then evaluated for desirable characteristics, but on the average, only one seedling out of a thousand shows sufficient promise to merit further propagation by budding and further testing in different parts of the state over a long period of years.

New Method in Use

With a new method now in use, the seeds are planted in individual pots. As soon as they are well started, a thin section of root is made with a micro-tome and examined under a microscope to determine the number of chromosomes which carry all of the characteristics which go to make an apple tree. While most apple varieties contain two sets of chromosomes, many of the better varieties have three sets, or 51 chromosomes in all. Theoretically, therefore, seedlings with 51 chromosomes are more likely to display superior qualities, continues Einset. "Only about three seedlings out of a thousand will normally have 51 chromosomes, but by selecting these seedlings by means of the microscope, the total number of seedlings to be grown to fruiting can be drastically reduced at the outset."

"Then to speed up the process still further, buds from these selected seedlings are placed on dwarfing rootstocks, thus increasing the number of trees of the original seedling before they even begin to bear. When the original seedling and these budded trees come into fruiting, enough fruit is available to evaluate it for dessert purposes and for processing long before fruit is available in the usual apple breeding program."

By means of this new technique the station now has several bushels of fruit of highly promising selections from a cross between Northern Spy and Golden Delicious made in 1943. One of the most promising of these weighs 50 pounds to the box as compared with 36 pounds for McIntosh.

IBM Children's Christmas Party Held for 4,500

Christmas came early for 4,500 youngsters, sons and daughters of IBM, Kingston employees, who attended the company's annual children's Christmas party held for the first time in the cafeteria Saturday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Santa Claus greeted the youngsters as they received candy and Christmas gifts from Kingston IBM Club volunteers, 22 strong. Plant employee volunteers under the chairmanship of Clement E. Lepine, IBM Club president had wrapped the 4,500 gifts and decorated the cafeteria in a Yuletide decor.

The 1956 children's Christmas party was held at the State Armory, Manor Avenue and was attended by 3,500 youngsters.

At the IBM Country Club, Poughkeepsie 500 children of IBM Kingston employees were among the 5,500 kiddies who attended the IBM Poughkeepsie children's Christmas party Saturday.

Rosendale

Christmas Party

ROSENDALE — The annual Christmas party of the Womans Club of Rosendale was held Dec. 7 at Spindler's, Maple Hill. About 75 persons were present.

Entertainment was provided by Joseph Stein, pianist, and Peter Mathews, banjoist. Group singing and games were enjoyed by those present. Santa also made an appearance to distribute gifts to all.

A buffet dinner was served by hostesses Mrs. R. Weir, chairman, and Mrs. I. Spindler, Mrs. R. Demarest, Mrs. W. Doolittle, Mrs. J. Duffy, Sr., and Mrs. W. Pugliese.

Bridge Gives Easy Access to View Christmas Lights

Ulster County sightseers will have better access to the two widely publicized Christmas displays on the east side of the Hudson River this year provided by the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

Mt. Alvernia Seminary lights at Wappingers Falls go on Friday and the 5,000 light Christmas display at the Niver homestead will be illuminated Sunday night at Ancramdale, Columbia County.

Turned on Sunday

The display at the Niver homestead located just off Route 199 near Pine Plains will be turned on Sunday and will be illuminated daily until January 1, Kenneth Hoag, present occupant of the home said.

Father John Baptist, OFM, guardian superior announced that Mt. Alvernia's display of lights will be turned on Friday night and will be illuminated until January 12.

According to Father John Baptist, 80 seminarians at Mt. Alvernia already had spent hundreds of hours installing strings of lights along the monastery's outlines, crosses and towers. More than 7,000 lights are in the display decorating scenery. A replica of the Holy Land is displayed in the gymnasium below the chapel. The Nativity scene has been duplicated in close detail and another devotional Nativity scene has been set up in the chapel this year, Father John Baptist said.

The lights at the Niver homestead outline the building and feature a huge wreath with lettering "Merry Christmas." The scene has many outdoor trees and a life size Nativity scene. A public address system is used to offer carols and other Christmas refrains. Santa Claus usually schedules a visit at the scene.

Bianco's Case Is Continued Here Asking $100,000

Continued today in Supreme Court before Justice Harry E. Schirick and a jury were the actions brought by Joseph Bianco against John Aborio, Inc., and Mrs. Sarah Ackerman, actions to recover for negligence and trespass. Trial will take several more days.

Bianco, proprietor of the Villa Bianco at Rosendale, seeks $100,000 damages under an allegation that the removal of gravel from the Ackerman premises on the Rondout creek at Rosendale by the Arborio company contributed to the flood damage to his premises in the fall of 1955. The Arborio company purchased fill for a thruway job from Mrs. Ackerman. The gravel was taken from the Rondout at the "island" on the Ackerman premises up stream from the Bianco premises in 1954. It is alleged this was responsible for a diversion of flood waters the following year over the Bianco premises causing damage to several buildings and doing other damage to the premises.

January Report Due On President Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—New efforts to clear up the knotty question of how an ailing president could legally be relieved of his duties will be made after Congress reconvenes in January.

An acceptable solution to the problem, which has assumed new importance in view of President Eisenhower's three illnesses in 26 months, apparently will not be easy to find.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said Saturday he is drafting a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit a Congress-cabinet commission to determine whether a president is able to continue in office.

Kefauver said the constitutional amendments subcommittee he heads also will begin hearings shortly after Congress returns in January to determine the conditions under which a vice president might replace a disabled president.

Eisenhower has proposed a constitutional amendment under which the president could declare in writing he is unable to discharge the duties of the presidency and the vice president would become acting president.

Long Way to Go

WASHINGTON (AP)—The drive to turn the power of the hydrogen bomb into industrial energy still is far short of success, an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman says.

Dr. Arthur E. Ruark, director of U. S. efforts in this field, said "as far as we know, all nations are some steps along the road, but for all nations it's a long way to go."

Ruark Saturday denied unofficial British reports that the United States is preventing Britain from announcing important new developments in this field.

Greco, Ferraro Cars Collide in Glasco Village

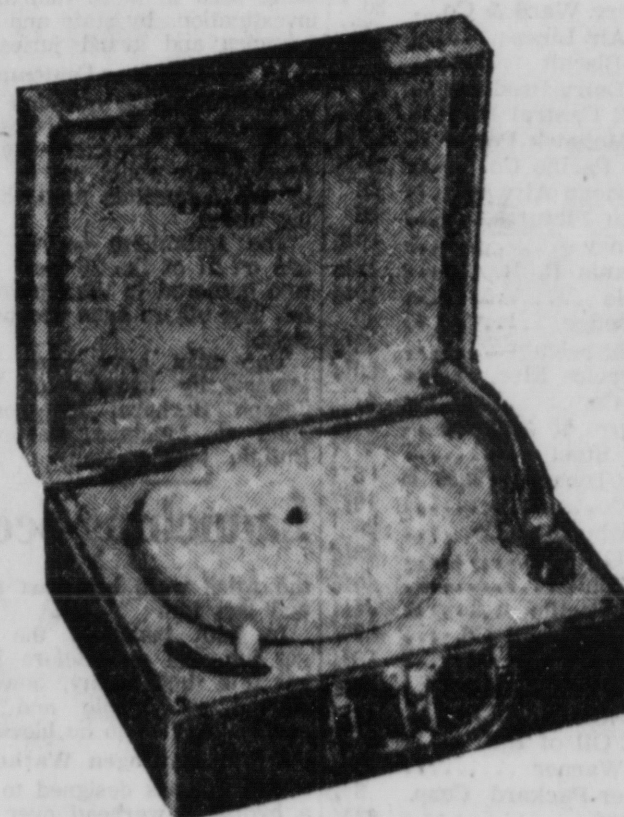

A Glasco man suffered severe shock late Saturday night in a two-car collision on Delaware Avenue about 1,000 feet north of Davis Road in that hamlet, according to a report in the Ulster County sheriff's office.

He is Albert V. Greco, 31, of Box 65, who was operating a 1954 sedan east when his car was in collision with a 1957 sedan operated by John Charles Ferraro, 20, of Box 173, Glasco. Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone reported that the Greco car, proceeding to a fire at the time, swayed toward the north side of the road, forcing the Ferraro vehicle into the ditch and side-swiping it.

The Greco car then swung to the opposite side of the road, entered the ditch and turned over on its left side.

Mayone reported that the Greco car was traveling about 25 MPH when it skidded on wet pavement. Time of the accident was listed as 11:55 p. m.

Develop New Pear Varieties in State

While Bartlett is still the most important pear variety grown in New York State, new introductions from Cornell's Experiment Station at Geneva, a unit of the State University, look quite promising.

"Among these is Chapin, a seedling of Seckel introduced by the Station in 1946," Doctor Robert C. Lamb, Station pomologist, said. "It is an early dessert variety for the home fruit planting and the roadside stand. It ripens early in August and can be picked over a long season. The fruit is medium-sized, attractive, juicy and very good flavor."

Seedlings Developed

Two seedlings of Bartlett developed at the experiment station are also showing up well, according to Lamb. One of these, known simply as NY 7620, may be a possible replacement for Clapp Favorite as it ripens with that variety but keeps longer. The other selection, NY 4885, ripens a week later than Bartlett and is very productive of large-sized fruits.

Gorham, another Bartlett-type sort introduced by the Station in 1923, is being grown to lengthen the Bartlett season.

Later Varieties

"Among later varieties are Ewart and Dumont," continues Doctor Lamb. "Ewart is a large-fruited, productive variety that will keep in storage until December. Dumont, an old European pear, is an attractive, high-quality sort. It is recommended more for home use until its productivity can be determined." Planting stocks of these and other new pears are available from the New York State Fruit Testing Association at Geneva which cooperates with the Experiment Station in introducing and distributing new fruit varieties developed in the Station's breeding program.

Task Force to Meet On State Accidents

ALBANY (AP)—A 100-member citizens' task force will meet in the Capitol tomorrow to seek ways to cut the state's highway accident toll.

Gov. Harriman named the group yesterday. About half the members represent safety organizations. The others are individuals active in the field.

The group, the New York State Citizens Council on Traffic Safety, will help expand local safety activities, improve safety education and advise the state government on traffic-accident prevention.

Urges Catholics To Stimulate More Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP)—The former president of the University of Notre Dame says Roman Catholic homes and schools in this country have not done enough to stimulate intellectual leadership.

The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, asked at a Catholic breakfast meeting yesterday: "Where are the Catholic Salts, Oppenheimers, Einsteins? Why are we not more prominent in television, in the publishing of influential newspapers, in the fields of the motion picture, in painting, in sculpture, music, architecture?"

Father Cavanaugh, who headed Notre Dame from 1946 to 1952 and is now director of the Notre Dame Foundation, said an intellectual revolution is now underway in Catholic colleges and universities aimed at producing more outstanding leaders.

He said this revolution was set off two years ago by a lecture by the Right Rev. Msgr. John Tracy Ellis, Catholic University historian. He said the lecture upset "Catholic complacency" with figures showing Catholics had a relatively small percentage of leadership in such fields as science.

Father Cavanaugh said one reason could be that "we have spread ourselves too thin, opened up colleges and even universities without sufficient first-rate teaching personnel."

Or, he suggested, it could be that Catholic teaching methods "are too didactic, catechetical" and are not stimulating a spirit of critical study in students.

Ave Hosts Democratic Mayors at Luncheon

ALBANY (AP)—Gov. Harriman played host at the executive mansion today to the Democratic mayors who will hold office in New York State next year.

The governor's office said 28 of the 29 mayors were expected to attend the luncheon get-together.

New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner declined because of the subway strike.

Democrats picked up nine mayoral seats in last month's elections, but lost three to Republicans and one to a Liberal.

Democratic mayors who will step out of office Dec. 31 were not invited to the luncheon.

British Report Advance In Producing Power

LONDON (AP)—Two newspapers claimed today that British scientists have secretly achieved fantastic temperatures, indicating they soon can harness the hydrogen bomb to produce electric power.

The Daily Express said the scientists believe they succeeded in raising gaseous deuterium, a variant form of hydrogen, to 60 million degrees centigrade or 108 million degrees Fahrenheit.

The News Chronicle reported that a temperature of at least 5 million degrees centigrade, or 9 million Fahrenheit, had been achieved.

A temperature of about 150 million degrees centigrade is needed to keep the hydrogen fusion reaction going under its own power. This is 10 times the estimated temperature at the center of the sun. In the hydrogen bomb it is achieved by using an atom bomb as the trigger.

The British Atomic Energy Authority reported several weeks ago that some progress had been made toward harnessing the H-bomb for peaceful use. Diplomats in Paris for the NATO conference said last week the British government is preparing to announce soon some details of a controlled hydrogen reaction.

The Express also revived charges that a secret political deal between the United States and Britain had prevented Harvard scientists from claiming "full credit for the brilliant advances."

The paper said the British government agreed to say nothing at the request of Lewis Strauss, head of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, who reportedly feared trouble from Congress if it became known America had fallen behind Britain in hydrogen-power research.

Education Mainly

fewer frills, more algebra and less square dancing, this responsibility cannot be passed by the people to Washington.

The major problem of education is "quality, not quantity," Nixon said.

He named three prevalent criticisms of the nation's school system: Too many soft subjects, teaching geared to the least gifted students, and automatic advancement to keep children from facing the challenge of failure.

Nixon termed the last point "the most fundamental weakness" in many schools.

"In the hard competition of life," he said, "they will have to face failure."

"Since life is this way, then our schools do not realistically prepare students if they ignore these hard realities."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels, motors and rails fell in a stock market sinking spell today but in early afternoon prices were holding around their lows of the session. Gains by copper were slashed as the market assumed a lower tone in late morning after an irregular pattern earlier. Trading was moderate.

A & P Employees Share $2,500,000 Yule Bonus

Employees of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company throughout the country will share more than $2,500,000 in pre-holiday compensation this year, it was announced today by Ralph W. Burger, president of the food chain.

Every employee with as much as six months' service will receive a part of the annual fund voted by the company's board of directors.

Deadlock Marks

sembly "was an important factor in preventing the possibility of an immediate attack on the Syrian people."

In the political committee's debate on Algeria, a strong Asian-African resolution calling for self-determination and negotiations was reduced through Latin-country amendments to a proposal for discussions, with self-determination not mentioned.

The embittered Asian-African group voted almost solidly against the amended proposal. The result was a 37-37 tie, with 6 absentions, not even the bare majority needed for a committee recommendation to the assembly.

Compromise Resolution
In the Assembly, a compromise resolution with Asian, European and Latin-American sponsorship passed unanimously. It expressed a wish for "pourparlers" — a French term meaning something more than discussions and something less than negotiations.

Greece promoted a resolution for negotiations on self-determination for Cyprus and Indonesia promoted one for "endeavors to find a solution" to its dispute with the Netherlands over West New Guinea. Each got a majority in committee, but failed to get the needed two-thirds in the Assembly.

Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, the Assembly president, noted in a review that the Assembly's debate on disarmament "ended in a double deadlock."

The Assembly recommended western disarmament proposals as a basis for further negotiations with Russia. It expanded the disarmament commission in an effort to provide a political balance that would keep Russia in the negotiations.

But Russia maintained its rejection of the proposals and still said it would not sit on the commission until more Communist and neutralist countries were put on it.

Gangland Leaders

nor had called this meeting.

Earlier this month, the two GOP leaders announced they were willing to make available to the attorney general $500,000 from the state's emergency fund if the governor agreed.

Responses Sullen
During the watchdog committee hearing, the probers asked the sharply dressed men to say whether the Apalachin meeting dealt with such topics as: The gangland assassination of racket boss Albert Anastasia in New York City, Oct. 25; distribution and sale of narcotics; the illegal manufacture and distribution of liquor; and union activities.

The sullen responses were the same: "I refuse to answer the question on the ground it may tend to incriminate or degrade me."

Incrimination was a possibility, since the Apalachin guest list is being used in more than a dozen investigations by state and federal agencies and grand juries.

To Consider Contempt
Horan said the question of contempt charges against those hoodlums who invoked the Fifth Amendment would not be decided by the committee until the hearing ended.

The committee served subpoenas on 27 of the 36 New Yorkers who gathered in the Upstate hamlet. The others have dropped from sight.

Two men have been excused temporarily because of illness—Joseph Barbara, the host, and John C. Montana, a prominent Buffalo businessman.

Launching Seen
the Atlas were held last summer and last fall.

In both instances the missile got into the air. Before it could get fully under way, however, it started to wobble and change course and had to be blown apart.

For Hydrogen Warhead
The Atlas is designed to deliver a hydrogen warhead over an arc reaching as high as 600 miles above the earth to a target 5,000 miles or more from its launching point. Its average speed is 10,000 miles an hour.

In a test launching, however, the main purpose is to check the functioning of the various parts. The missile may be pre-set for a lesser altitude and a shorter range, for better observation of its flight.

The Atlas is in production near San Diego, Calif., by the Convair Astronautics Division of the General Dynamics Corp.

Titan In 1958
A "backup" intercontinental ballistic missile, the Titan, is being built by the Martin Co., at Denver, Colo., but probably will not be ready for testing before mid-1958.

Although construction details are secret, the Titan is believed to be about 70 feet long and 8 1/2 feet in diameter and to weigh some 100 tons at takeoff.

It consists of three stages and is powered by three rocket engines built by the Rocketdyne Division of North American Aviation, Inc. Rocketdyne also builds engines for the Air Force Thor intermediate range missile and for the Army Jupiter and Redstone missiles.

Mishaps Injure 4, collided at 9:32 a. m., Sunday at Maiden Lane and Pine Street.

Intersection Slippery
Officers George Dougherty and Floyd Gilbert, who investigated, reported slippery conditions at the intersection.

A report at 5:40 p. m. Sunday said that Hyler VanWagenen, 27, of 40 Merritt Avenue, had been treated at Kingston Hospital for abrasions of the right side of the face and right hand. These were suffered in a mishap at 11 a. m., but time, place and details, were not revealed, the report said.

Still Have Military Advantage Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon said today the United States has not "lost the overall military advantage which we have enjoyed, do enjoy and will continue to enjoy for some time in the future."

Nixon was the opening speaker at a seminar held by the Air Force Assn. for several hundred Washington newsmen on the subject of missiles and satellites.

The Vice President said the initial reaction to Russia's Sputnik launchings was divided between "great pessimism" on one side and "the feeling that we could go along as usual" on the other. He said what is needed is "a good dose of realism."

Ike Urges Action

hope to balance growing Russian might and guard their own security.

The NATO opening took place in a better political atmosphere than had existed here at the end of last week. Eisenhower had soothed French fears about U. S. policy in North Africa. West Germany despite objections was expected to go along with a start on the missiles rearmament of NATO. It seemed likely the summit meeting by Wednesday would produce some accomplishments.

Eisenhower said the meeting "is unique in history" and went on:

"We are here to reeducate ourselves to the task of dispelling the shadows that are being cast upon the free world. We are here to take store of our great assets—in men, in minds, and materials. We are here to find ways and means to apply our undoubted strengths to the building of an ample and safer home for mankind here on earth."

Wheels in Lake Only Clues to Lost Plane

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—Two aircraft landing wheels found bobbing in Lake Erie were the only clues today in the hunt for an American businessman whose twin-engine plane disappeared during a snowstorm Saturday.

Two U. S. Navy helicopters were slated to join 11 other aircraft in the search.

Missing is Robert West, president of the West Instrument Co. of Chicago. His last message was picked up by a Trans-Canada Airlines passenger plane. It said:

"I am 2,000 feet above Hagersville. Both engines are out. Am losing height rapidly."

Hagersville is about 20 miles south of Hamilton and on the route from Rochester, N. Y., to Detroit. West was on this route on his return from a business trip.

The search for West started Saturday night when a pump-house operator in the Fort Erie-Port Colborne area reported sighting a wreckage.

The airplane wheel was found at Point Abino near Crystal Beach. The other was found later.

Will Study Funds For Scientific Course Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate preparedness subcommittee will take up the question of federal subsidies for scientific education before it ends its inquiry into the missiles program.

This was disclosed today by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the subcommittee chairman.

Johnson, who also is the Senate Democratic leader, already has said publicly he believes some form of federal aid should be made available for training scientists needed in the defense program.

He told reporters that when the subcommittee sits down to write a report on its investigation of the missile and satellite programs he will ask Chairman Hill (D-Ala.) of the Senate Labor and Welfare Committee to sit in on discussions of educational problems.

"We expect to turn over to the labor committee the job of acting as it sees fit on a scientific educational program after it has had the benefit of our inquiries into this matter," Johnson said.

Possible Legislation
Although he has not committed himself publicly for any particular program, Johnson is understood to be thinking in terms of legislation which would parallel that under which agricultural vocational teachers have been trained.

Associates said it was the Democratic leader's belief that if the federal government can contribute without controversy toward farm vocational education it can make similar contributions in the scientific field.

Kennan Advises
doing, if the military threat were not upon us at all."

Finishing a six-part BBC lecture series, Kennan said the West should not "give up unilaterally the nuclear deterrent, or even stop strengthening NATO forces in Europe." But he added:

"NATO must not be strengthened in such a way as to prejudice the chances for an eventual reduction, by peaceful negotiation, of the danger of an all-out war."

Negotiations should be used to remove the major sources of military danger, he said, "particularly the abnormal situation now prevailing in central and eastern Europe, and the gradual achievement of a state of affairs in which the political competition could take its course without the constant threat of a general war."

Kennan earlier in the series proposed possible withdrawal of western and Soviet forces from central Europe and an end to the "hopeless exertions" of the nuclear arms race.

A professor of history at the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton, N. J., Kennan currently is a visiting lecturer at Oxford University.

Wet Weather Across Nation, No Severe Cold

By The Associated Press
Wet weather and cloudy skies prevailed across broad areas of the nation today, but no severe cold was reported.

Precipitation was widespread in the western third of the country from the Rockies to the Pacific coast. Snow fell in the higher elevations of the Rockies where temperatures were mostly around freezing.

In other parts of the wet belt, rain was general and temperatures were mostly in the 40s, except in the 50s in the extreme southern areas.

Saints Proposed

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Basic documentation of a plea by U. S. Roman Catholic bishops for the mass elevation to sainthood of 116 American missionary martyrs has been published here by the Erie chancery office. Prepared by a commission of church historians, headed by Archbishop John Mark Gannon, bishop of Erie, it presents accounts of the lives and deaths of the martyrs. Many of them died in the early American West. The Sacred Congregation of Rites in Rome still is considering the plea for their canonization.

Presbyterians Unite

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two Presbyterian churches which will become one in May—the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. and the United Presbyterian Church—have adopted a joint missionary budget for overseas work in 1958 of $11,366,000.

Selling Santa Short

By FRANK TRIPP

As we enter the open season for Santa Clauses, what mother isn't perplexed by the dozens of them that puzzle little minds? Her problem is simple compared to a child's.

There are childless people who scoff at the lovely deception; others who decry the commercialization of the children's patron saint.

Yet the old fellow is Christmas itself in minds too young to understand the holiness of the day. So we're stuck with Santa. Nobody would want to outlaw Santa Claus—except to keep him out of Washington.

Frank Tripp
Who hasn't wondered what a tot thinks, not only of Santa but of his own parents, as they tote him through the streets and from store to store to encounter a new, a vastly different and often a very ridiculous Santa Claus at every turn? He is told that Santa Claus is a mysterious unseen saint, who if detected may not stop at his house. He worships pictures of a real Santa, a fat, laughing, red-faced, white-bearded friend of children, with "a little round belly that shakes when he laughs like a bowlful of jelly."

Don't be fooled; the image of a real Santa Claus becomes indelibly imprinted in his little mind.

THEN HIS MAMA takes Willie downtown to see Santa Claus. The same mama who would spank him if he pulled such a fake on her.

First step off the bus he sees Santa in front of a kettle ringing a bell. Santa's brown pants hang below his faded, moth-eaten, once red jacket, which was cut like a night shirt, in hope to meet such an emergency.

Willie gets hurried along; "No, that's not Santa Claus," he's told. "Well then, who is he?" the poor kid thinks.

On the next corner Santa carries a banner, wears glasses, chews tobacco, is about six feet tall and is visiting with a pal about how long he can stick on relief.

The kid turns the corner and bumps into another Santa with a sign fore and aft: "After shopping dine at the Greasy Spoon: ham and eggs 35c." He can't read it so mama reads it for him: "It says that children must mind and be truthful," she lies.

THEN THEY GET to the big store from which Santa has been talking over the radio. There's a pretty good Santa there, except that the pillow has slipped down in his pants and his whiskers don't move when he tells Willie to be good if he wants things that his store sells. The kid notices it, but musters up faith and goes along with the act.

Mama is sure that Willie has been sold a bill of goods; then remembers something she's got to buy at another store. They go there—and at the door the kid gets all befuddled again.

There's another Santa Claus. This one's short and fat as he's supposed to be and he's got a squeaky voice like a barbershop tenor. Willie goes home wondering who's nuts, he or Santa Claus.

WE DEVELOPED a solution. Our children have never "seen" Santa Claus and are told they never will.

We tell them that all of the funny folks they see dressed like him are just "Santa's helpers"; that the world is so big and Santa so eager to miss no child on Christmas that he has to have helpers in many places.

It works and will preserve faith for years after little friends have tried to sell Santa short to your children.

Your gasoline is put to a critical test in cold winter weather.

Beat the "Cold War" with Shell Gasolines

... custom-winterized for Kingston

You can get easy starts, fast acceleration ... plus freedom from start-and-stall driving with Super Shell or Shell Gasoline regular grade

SAY GOOD-BYE to winter driving blues when you switch to new Winterized Shell Gasolines with TCP*. They're tailor-made to give your car top gasoline performance, even in the coldest weather. Here's how:

In winter weather, it is much more difficult for a gasoline to vaporize.

That's why Winterized Shell Gasolines are made more volatile, are more easily fired in the combustion chamber. This means your car starts easier, accelerates more rapidly, even on the coldest days.

And when the thermometer goes up a bit and the humidity's high, Winterized Shell Gasolines prevent another driving problem—start-and-stall driving due to carburetor icing. That's when moisture from the air freezes on delicate carburetor parts and chokes off your engine's fuel supply.

With either grade of Winterized Shell Gasoline in your tank you start easily and keep on going!

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research.

Business Leaders See Good Trends for 1958

By SAM DAWSON

NEW-YORK (AP)—Many business men believe the public is unduly disturbed today by the drop in stock market prices. They hold that the first half of 1958 isn't going to be as bad as all that.

Furthermore, they are counting on 1958 ending up in about as good a shape businesswise as industry and trade experience now—not roaring maybe, but not limping too much either.

New Appraisals

Here's a new crop of appraisals by industry spokesmen:

Among the most optimistic is Joseph A. Hoban, a B. F. Goodrich vice president, who looks for a substantial upturn in business in mid-1958 with a major factor being a rise in consumer spending in response to new products and new methods of marketing.

D. C. Minard, president of the Trane Co. at La Crosse, Wis., sees chances of a moderate increase in 1958 in industry wide sales of air conditioning equipment. He believes much of this will come from improvements to existing buildings.

Those who feed the nation aren't worrying about sales. Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, says consumers spent a record 79 billion for food this year and probably will spend about 83 billion in 1958. Some increase in personal spending for soft goods and services in 1958 is forecast by Ira T. Ellis, Du Pont economist, speaking at an economic forum held by the National Industrial Conference Board.

Bankers More Cautious

Government agencies predict a five per cent dip in plant and equipment spending by business next year, bringing it down to 35½ billion dollars.

On the other hand, bankers at the forum are more cautious than the industrialists.

John D. Wilson, a Chase Manhattan Bank vice president, sees slightly fewer auto sales next year and not much of an increase in home building. He believes business spending may drop by five billion dollars.

Norris O. Johnson, a vice president of the First National City Bank of New York, takes the calm view: "The incipient business recession has been remarkably slow to unfold. I don't think it will be deep or long, or offer many parallels to the 30s."

Distinguished French Novelist

The real name of George San, distinguished French novelist, was Amandine Aurore Lucile Dudevant. She had a long romantic affair with Chopin, noted Polish musician.

SHOPPING FEET

This year you aren't going to get caught in the maze of last-minute shopping. You aren't going to rush from store to store looking for just the right gift for Aunt Min. You aren't going to take the children to see Santa Claus at a time when you'll have to stand in line for an hour. Or, are you?

Just in case you aren't quite as sensible as you planned to be, here are a few words to the wise to help you avoid "shopping feet." They're no joke. Besides being painful themselves, they can cause headache, backache, and other pains. And you don't want to waste time feeling miserable at this season.

The right shoes are your first consideration. It's not enough to specify low heels. Soft play shoes are fine on the beach, but you need sturdy leather for walking or standing any length of time, especially on hard surfaces. Your shoes won't be comfortable if they don't fit, and that means both feet. Shoes should be long enough to leave some space at the longest toe when standing, wide enough so that toes aren't cramped, and snug around the heels to keep the foot from sliding forward. This doesn't mean they have to be ugly, but do keep your prettiest pointed toes and spike heels for more suitable occasions.

Not only shoes, but stockings, too must fit—should be slightly longer than the longest toe. Toenails should be smooth and well trimmed, cut straight across and not too short. If nails have a tendency to cut into flesh, a small piece of cotton or lamb's wool gently inserted between nail and skin usually brings relief. These simple measures will help keep your feet and your disposition in happy holiday condition.

YMCA Announces Special Events

The YMCA has many special events planned for the boys and mens entertainment between Dec. 16 and Christmas, it was announced by general secretary Louis Schafer.

The monthly coffee and donut hour for the business men following their gym class tonight will take the form of a Christmas party.

Lobby Decorated

The TV lobby will be decorated with Christmas tree in the window. A display of Christ in the manger on a table next to a glowing fireplace are some of the holiday decorations. The AA will meet on the second floor at 8:30 p. m. The board of directors will hold its monthly meeting starting with a luncheon at noon.

The four Hi-Y Clubs composed of high school boys and girls will hold its annual Christmas party following their meeting Wednesday night in the YMCA youth center. Thursday night the Industrial Management Club, sponsored by the YMCA will hold its first boys Christmas party in the "Y" youth center. Fifty boys have been invited from Saugerties, Port Ewen and Kingston. The boys will all be transported to and from the YMCA in club members private cars. A special program of games, entertainment, movies, refreshments and gifts have been arranged. Harold Van Voorhis of Ferroxcube Corporation in Saugerties is chairman. Schafer will arrange games and entertainment.

Boys Party Slated

The annual boys party of the FLYING CAMERAMAN—The difficulty of getting flight films of the B-58 Hustler, the world's first supersonic bomber, has been solved by equipping test pilots with a helmet camera. George Davis, Convair test pilot, at Fort Worth, Tex., dons a camera equipped helmet, above, during a pre-flight checkout of the stripped-down gun camera. Single jet interceptors are the only planes capable of keeping up with the four-jet Hustler. But the interceptor pilots need all their concentration to handle their supersonic planes and cannot operate a camera at the same time. The four-pound camera, operated by remote control from a button in the control stick, proved to be the answer.

YMCA membership will take place Tuesday, Dec. 24 at 9:30 a. m. Frank Rebollo and Richard Case, youth director and physical director respectively, have arranged a very special program that will last until noon, ending up with refreshments, and gifts. All YMCA boy members attending will learn of the special program scheduled between December 24 and January 2.

Didn't Pay Fine

Susan B. Anthony, crusader for woman's rights, was fined a hundred dollars for trying to vote in 1872. She refused to pay it, and the men finally gave up and didn't press the charge.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Harry Rigby Jr. said that he had a telephone call from Mrs. Eloise Lovatt, of the Hasbrouck family who have lived in Ulster County almost 300 years and were one of the original patentees of New Paltz.

Mrs. Lovatt added some more information on the naming of the places and streets in Kingston. It seems Mrs. Lovatt and Miss Dorothy Dumord, who has it from Ruth Tongue, a long time resident of that part of Kingston overlooking the Rondout Creek, called President's Place. These ladies claim it was named after the president of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Co. According to Mr. Rigby, perhaps it was Mr. Bolton, "who tried to fasten his name on the village, which is now known as Rondout. He built the first house upon the crowning eminence that is now one of the most picturesque short streets in Kingston."

Rigby says that Mrs. Lovatt told him that a large frame house was built there by Mr. Bolton, and later occupied by Sam Coykendall. This house, which has since been torn down, occupied approximately the site most of us still call "Dr. Alex and Sam Stern's home." Rigby further explains: "This is the Coykendall, who married Cornell's daughter and moved up on President's Place from the Cornell homestead which occupied the present site of Cornell Park on Wurts Street, also with a magnificent view of creek and river.

In those days men of means looked for sites from which could be seen the most magnificent view, and there they built their homes. Often these homes had balconies and towers from which the river and creek and hills and mountains could be seen for miles on a clear day.

I remember those cupola decorations or "widow's peak" as they were called which owners of ships or other men of means had on their homes so that their family could watch them when they came into port or were leaving. The waterways played a large part in the lives of people in those days.

Now going back to streets of Kingston, Mrs. Lovatt further told Mr. Rigby that Mary's Avenue and Augusta Street were named for Mary Augusta Cornell Coykendall, when the streets were laid out through a later Coykendall estate on West Chestnut Street. The stables and carriage house were on Augusta Street and are now owned by the Coach House Players, "of excellent brick and good sturdy construction, built to stand up to centuries of weather conditions."

Mrs. Lovatt told further of the Hasbrouck family whose old homestead occupied the estate surrounded by a high stone wall on Mill Street and overlooking the East Strand. "I remember Col. Gordon Reel and his wife living there, and he often showed me the Thomas Chambers gravestone which was imbedded in the foundation."

It seems that Tom Chambers, the founder of Kingston was buried there and later his body transferred to Montrose Cemetery but the stone remained at the original place until recently. Therefore Mrs. Lovatt feels that Chambers Street was named after Thomas Chambers.

I went to No. 3 School which is on Chamber Street and never was I taught that the street was named after one of the founders of Kingston. I do not remember any local history taught in my time.

Nurses at Kingston Hospital Announce Their Yule Program

Planning for Christmas festivities among the students and faculty of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing is in full swing, with a dance, a party, caroling and tree-trimming part of the activities in the offing.

The Glee Club, composed of students from each of the three classes, under the leadership of Miss Barbara Gedney, will make a tour of the hospital, singing carols and Christmas music.

On Thursday, Dec. 19, at 8 p. m. the student body will have a Christmas party at the residence. There will be skits given by each class, as well as one by the faculty, group singing, and gifts will be exchanged.

The gala event of the season will be the Junior Class Dance, held in the Governor Clinton Crystal Room with music supplied by the La Falce Brothers. The dance is semi-formal, will begin at 9 p. m. and continue until 1 a. m.

In the true and underlying spirit of the season, all connected with the school are absorbed in the assembling of food (including a turkey), clothing, and a Christmas tree and trimmings, which representatives of the group will bring to a city family.

Meanwhile, for several weeks, extensive re-decorating has taken place in the lounge of the residence and it will be bright and pretty for the holiday season. A Christmas tree will be set up and trimmed as soon as the room is complete. A great deal of pleasure has already been derived from a hi-fi phonograph given by the medical staff to the hospital.

Electrol Employees Enjoy Yule Party

A Christmas party was held Thursday, Dec. 12 at Aiello's Restaurant for the girls of Electrol Incorporated.

The centerpiece featured a wrought iron candelabra filled with seasonal decorations, and a gayly lighted Christmas tree stood at the entrance to the room. At each plate was a Christmas corsage.

Santa Claus, in the person of James E. Drury, presented each girl with a gift. Several acts of entertainment were provided by the Helen Cashin School of Dancing. Mrs. Letha Gedney was at the piano. Those attending were the Misses Lucille Corrado, Eleanor Funk, Jean Jurkowski, Barbara Krauser, Sylvia Janacek, Margaret Mellert, Marie Murphy, Gloria Ruzzo, and Jacqueline Tobias, and the Meses. Good fit is an essential part of looking well-dressed, even on a budget. So never wear a dress if it's too long or the shoulders are not right or it's too tight through the hips. Alterations take time, patience and money but they're important.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

A MISPLACED CIGARETTE CASE

Dear Mrs. Post: I gave a party at my house two days ago. The day after the party I received a telephone call from one of the guests telling me that she forgot her cigarette case at my house and asked if I had come across it. I told her that I hadn't but would look for it. I have searched high and low, but no trace of the cigarette case and I can only imagine that one of the guests inadvertently picked it up and put it in her bag thinking it was hers, and that she perhaps has not yet discovered it. The cigarette case was quite a valuable one and I am rather upset over it. Would it cast suspicion on my guests if I were to call them and ask them if they had taken it by mistake? What can I do about this?

Answer: It would be entirely proper to call your guests one by one on the telephone and ask each if by chance she has found an extra cigarette case in her bag. Beyond this there is really nothing you can do.

"Ribbon" Them in
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how to prevent the guests from leaving the church before the families do? At several weddings I've been to, the guests left their places almost before the wedding party reached the back of the church and started to file out. I am going to be married shortly and would like to know if there is any way to keep this from happening at my wedding.

Answer: This can be prevented by running ribbons in front of the pews. As soon as the processional is ready to start, have two ushers run ribbons up the length of the pews and fasten them securely to keep the people from going out into the aisle as you describe, and do not remove them until after the recessional. "Ribbons" can be white tape.

Return for Shower Parties
Dear Mrs. Post: What should I do in return for shower parties being given for me? Do I give presents to the hostesses, or what?

Answer: Further than saying "Thank You" and showing your appreciation nothing is expected of you. At least, not until perhaps the occasion arises when you can give a shower for your hostess in return.

How should table napkins be folded, and what size is used for dinner? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Leaflet E-32, "Table Linen," includes this information, also when to use various table cloths. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Fire Groups Will Hold Yule Party
At Bloomington

The Bloomington Fire Company and its Ladies Auxiliary will give a Christmas party for the children of the fire district Saturday afternoon, Dec. 21.

The party will begin at 1:30 p. m. with Santa Claus arriving about 2:30 p. m.

A film will be shown beginning at 1:30. The visit from Santa will be followed by refreshments and distribution of gifts to the children.

It is estimated that 150 children will attend the party.

The committee in charge is now making arrangements for the gifts.

Each year the firemen and auxiliary arrange a Christmas party. Anyone interested in donating to the party fund may do so by contacting the president, Fred Sauer.

Something Different

Different! Cut apple rings about 1/2-inch thick and fry in butter in a deep skillet; cover with sauerkraut and top with cooked sausage links; cover and steam until hot through.

Gravy Making

Flour, spread in a thin layer in a shallow pan, may be browned in a hot oven if it is stirred often. The browned flour is excellent to use in meat and poultry gravies.

7 New York Students
Ordained Priests

ROME, Italy (AP)—Seven New York students at the pontifical North American college were ordained priests of the Roman Catholic Church yesterday.

The New Yorkers were among a group of 41, representing 26 states and the District of Columbia.

They were: The Rev. Jesse L. Creel, St. Albans; the Rev. James K. Crowe, Eden; the Rev. J. Thomas Moran, Lockport; the Rev. William M. Murnion, New York; the Rev. Stephen C. Nevin, Watertown; and the Rev. Joseph A. Ranieri, Staten Island.

Parents and relatives of the young priests attended the impressive ceremony, held in the chapel of the college on Rome's Janiculum Hill.

The Most Rev. Martin J. O'Connor, titular bishop of Thespie and rector of the college, was the ordaining bishop.

History Letters
Are Published

ALBANY (AP)—The 12th volume of the papers of Sir William Johnson, who developed an empire in central New York in the 18th century, has been pushed, the State Education Department said today.

The project, begun in 1921 by state historian James Sullivan, was completed with publication of the 1,124-page book. It contains 537 documents covering the years 1766 through 1774, when Johnson acquired vast land holdings for himself and others.

Johnson spent considerable time in an attempt to establish Indian affairs on a stable basis to assure peace on the frontier.

Cow Hay Pellets
Are Successful,
Professor Says

ITHACA (AP)—As if cows aren't bored enough, a Cornell professor now comes up with a pellet for dinner.

John I. Miller, an animal husbandman at the state agriculture college at Cornell, says a 151-day experiment feeding hay pellets to beef calves proved successful.

"But I want to get in another year's work before I start waving the flag," Miller said.

Different Diets

In his experiment, Miller divided a group of calves into lots and fed each group a different diet. He said those that received mixed hay plus alfalfa pellets, from 1/2 to 2 inches long, gained more weight each day than those fed ordinary mixed hay.

Miller said a machine was now on the drawing board that would allow a farmer to pelletize his own hay on his farm or at a nearby location.

"It is conceivable," Miller said, "that an animal's complete ration of hay, grains and necessary supplements can be all wrapped up into an easy-to-eat cake."

Annual operating cost per student in U. S. public schools varies from a low of $136 in Bowling Green, Ky., to a high of $459 in San Francisco, Calif. This is the report of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Sault Canal Is Nearing
Construction on Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Long Sault Canal, a major phase of the U. S. portion of the St. Lawrence Seaway, is nearing completion.

Only about 90,000 cubic yards of material remain to be excavated from the big ditch, which is 10 miles long, 442 feet wide and has a minimum depth of 27 feet.

Construction of the canal, which contains two huge locks—the Eisenhower and the Grasse River—thus far has resulted in the excavation of more than 16 million cubic yards of material.

The canal, being built at a cost of nearly eight million dollars, will enable ships using the seaway to by-pass structures of the St. Lawrence River power development.

First energy from the 600 million dollar power project, a joint venture of New York State and the province of Ontario, will be released late next summer.

The canal's two locks, costing an estimated 46 million dollars, will raise and lower vessels about 90 feet on their trips between the Atlantic Ocean, the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., the agency created by Congress to construct and administer the U. S. portion of the international seaway, also reported completion during November of a training dike that will reduce navigation hazards from swift currents.

The corporation said that since the beginning of construction it has awarded contracts totaling $98,184,416. On this basis, the corporation said, the U. S. seaway work is 77.5 per cent complete.

Doctors Warn Picking Spreads Warts!
New Discovery Removes Warts Quickly

Amazing New Compound... Used at Home...
Removes Warts Safely Without Cutting or Burning

New York, N.Y. (Special)—Medical science has linked warts with a contagious virus that may spread to all parts of the body. Doctors say picking at warts increases the danger of spreading and urge that they be removed as quickly as possible.

Now science has discovered a new substance that removes these growths safely... without danger of cutting, burning or infection. This substance, in easy-to-use liquid form, dissolves warts, leaving normal, healthy skin. Reports show this liquid can be safely used at home, even for children. There is no pain, no ugly scarring. In cases observed by a leading New York skin clinic, this liquid proved its ability to penetrate the wart, destroy its cells, and cause the wart to fall apart and disappear.

The name of this new liquid is Compound W. It is now available for the first time without prescription at drug counters everywhere for just 98¢. Compound W is guaranteed to remove warts or money refunded.

Indecision Gives a Vital Signal

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West selected the ace of clubs as his opening lead. He realized strong measures would be necessary if he were going to beat the contract.

East signaled with the nine and West continued. East took his king and gave West a ruff. West put dummy in with a diamond and the jack of spades was led. East went into a long huddle which clearly gave away the fact that he held the queen. Then East put up the queen, whereupon South made the rest of the tricks with no further ado.

East should have been ready for that jack of spades lead. The bidding had indicated that declarer held a four-card spade suit only. When West ruffed the third club lead East should have known that declarer needed all the trump tricks for his contract and that declarer would have to do some worrying about the queen.

In that spot no play could be more normal than the sudden

A young lady in the waiting room of an airport was crying steadily. Seeing her tears, a young man came over and tried to soothe her. He put a comforting arm around her and talked to her.

When she continued to weep, he squeezed her tighter.
Man—Isn't there anything I can do to make you stop crying?
Girl (sobbing)—I'm afraid not. It's my fever. But please keep on trying.

Hal—I ache all over.
Jeff—What's the trouble?
Hal—A couple of weeks ago we bought a lot of ultra modern furniture, and I've just found out that all this time I've been sleeping in the bookcase.

Dog Demand

HAVANA (AP)—The American institution of eating "hot dogs" has become so firmly implanted in Cuba that factories are having a hard time meeting the demand. There's five of them boosting production of "Perro Calientes." Two of them in Havana and another pair in Camaguey are each turning out 250,000 boxes annually—48 cans to the box.

Hollywood
News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Much blame has been heaped on the studios for failing to develop new stars and on theater men for not helping the cause.

Now here's an expert who blames the actors themselves. What's more, he names names.

He is Jack Kosslyn, veteran dramatic coach on both coasts and sometime actor himself. He has a part in the current "Maracaibo," but devotes most of his time to developing young talent at his school in Hollywood.

Blames Selection

"Part of the failure to develop new stars is poor selection by the studios," he remarked. "When I was in the talent program at U-I, most of the young people I had to work with were what I call 'marshmallow faces'—pretty boys and girls with no individuality. Yet what makes stars is a difflentness, a rare kind of vitality."

"That is real talent, and it is a hard thing to find. But even those who do not have native talent can still study and learn their craft. Then they will at least be interesting."

"But they won't do it. Either they're too lazy or they think they're good enough as they are. They aren't good enough."

"Take a fellow like Jeff Chandler. There is a sameness in every performance he gives. Rory Calhoun, too. You know exactly what he is going to do in every picture. That would be all right if they were fascinating personalities. But they aren't."

"Debra Paget is a pretty face with nothing behind it. Robert Wagner has had plenty of chance to grow as a performer, but he has failed to mature. A fellow like Tab Hunter has the physical attributes to attract a young following, but he hasn't developed himself in other ways."

Admires Mansfield

"You'd think if Esther Williams wanted to get out of the tank, she would study acting seriously. She shows no signs of doing so."

"You must admire Jayne Mansfield for taking a not-too-pretty face and a large bust and creating a sensation as an imitation Marilyn Monroe. But she seems more interested in sensations than an acting career. Now that she has done the one role she knows how, what is left for her?"

Just to prove that such buildups are not a total bust, Jack cites Marilyn herself. He commented that diligent study paid off for her.

"When I saw 'Bus Stop,' she made me believe the character she was playing," he said. "That is the yardstick of a good performance: Whether you can forget that is Monroe on the screen and think of her as the character."

Too Much, Too Soon

Too many of the young players want too much too soon, he remarked.

"They come to me and say, 'Make me a star,' Jack said, 'not 'Make me a good actor.'"

"They forget that the new stars of recent years—Marlon Brando, James Dean, Paul Newman, Anthony Franciosa—all studied hard at their craft before they got a chance for stardom."

OES Chapter Elects

Mrs. Parks, Matron

HIGHLAND—Fifty members attended the annual meeting of Highland Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday night.

Mrs. Mae Parks was elected worthy matron; Francis Sherow, worthy patron; Mrs. Olympia D. Cottine, secretary; Mrs. Jennie DuBois, treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Buckley, associate matron; Mrs. Viola Sherow, conductress; Mrs. Marjorie Glenn, associate conductress and Mrs. Betty DeMare, retiring matron, trustee for three years.

Myron J. Wells, patron reported during election. Annual records were given by the secretary treasurer; Mrs. Helen Merette, chairman of trustees, and Mrs. Stella Harp, chairman of the finance committee. Secret pals were revealed, gifts exchanged and new pals drawn. Cakes were presented to the matron who was observing her birthday.

Installation of officers will be Tuesday, Jan. 14 with a reception to the retiring matron, in charge of Mrs. Parks, matron elect. Decorations in the dining room were in charge of Mrs. Muriel B. Coutant and a Christmas tree was a feature decoration. Supper was served at 11 o'clock.

The year book committee will meet Friday night, January 3 at the home of Mrs. Parks, Milton Avenue.

D of A Council Elects

Slate of Officers

Election of officers was held at the meeting of Ida McKinley Council, Daughters of America, Wednesday night, with Councilor Margaret Radcliffe presiding.

Elected were Miss Grace Simmons, councilor; Mrs. Dorothy Palmer, associate; Mrs. Charlotte Salmon, vice-councilor; Mrs. Cecile Petersen, associate; Mrs. Kathryn Radcliffe, conductress; Mrs. Hazel Pape, warden; Mrs. Dorothy Temm, trustee and inside sentinel; Mrs. Daisy Mackey, assistant recording secretary; Robert Temm, assistant financial secretary; Mrs. Velma Clearwater, outside sentinel.

Those serving until June election are: Mrs. Dora Mittelstaedt, treasurer; Mrs. Lucille Williams, recording secretary; Mrs. Irene Ronk, financial secretary. Other officers will be appointed by the incoming councilor.

The annual Christmas party will be held Wednesday following the business meeting at 7 o'clock. Families of members will be guests. Christmas baskets for shut-ins will be assembled by Miss Simmons, Doris Radcliffe, Mrs. K. Radcliffe and the councilor. The tree will be decorated Sunday and members will assist.

Installation of officers will take place Wednesday, Jan. 15 with Mrs. Genevieve Dennis, deputy of the council from Poughkeepsie in charge. Several members from Molly Pitcher Council,

Poughkeepsie attended with

Deputy Dennis.

Annual Dinner Friday

The annual dinner of the officers of Highland Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was attended by 48 Friday night at the Oddo house, Clintondale Road. A roast beef dinner was served.

Favors were miniature Santa Claus figures made by Mrs. Muriel B. Coutant. Singing and dancing followed with Harry B. Coutant at the piano.

Speakers included Mrs. Betty DeMare, worthy matron, and Kenneth Wells, worthy patron.

Town Notes

The Rev. and Mrs. Justus Fennel Jr. accompanied Mrs. Fennel's mother, Mrs. Vinka Montel to New York Friday when she sailed to join her mother in Yugoslavia.

Fred Voice, Tillson Avenue, is a patient in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Owing to the storm Wednesday night the meeting of the Women's Organization was postponed until Friday evening. The WOSC held its meeting a day later on Thursday.

Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb and Mrs. Mildred Percy will entertain the meeting of Chapter A, PEO Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rathgeb. Changes in Christmas, 1899-1957, is the subject arranged by Miss Lula E. Clarke and Mrs. W. T. Lais. Members are asked to relate one of their early recollections of Christmas.

At the late meeting the program had an added interest through the loan of back copies of newspapers through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKinney.

The December meeting of the Pape Circle will be held Wednesday, 1:30 p. m., with the leader, Mrs. Pape. Bible Study Circle meets that evening at the manse at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Rose Seaman with Mrs. Root left Wednesday by plane for Whittier, Calif., to join their children, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Root. They plan to spend the holidays with them. Seeing them off was Walter R. Seaman, Mrs. W. A. Coy, Mrs. Theodore Coelho and Harold Seaman.

Mrs. Thomas Sears met Wednesday with the Marlborough Bridge Club at the home of Mrs. Frank Baker.

Weather conditions prevented the organization of a Highland Junior Chamber of Commerce Unit at Hotel DiPrima at a recent meeting. Plans now include a meeting for December 17 to elect officers and accept prepared by-laws.

Modena

MODENA—Word has been received here of the death of Wallace Coddington, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Coddington and the late Allan Coddington of Martinsville, Va., and a nephew of Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., of Modena.

Mr. Coddington was a veteran of World War 2, and was wounded in action in May 1944. Since then he has been a patient at the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., and the McGuire Veterans Hospital in Richmond, Va.

Besides his mother he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Lewis Judy of Waynesboro, Va., and Mrs. David Stanley of Stanleytown, Va., and a brother, Donald Coddington of Richmond, Va.

Burial was December 9, at Martinsville, Va.

Modena and Wallkill Schools will close Friday, Dec. 20, for the holiday vacation, reopening Monday, Jan. 6.

Glancing Over
TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Now the word is out that "The Seven Lively Arts" is dying and will be officially interred by CBS-TV in February.

It's a topic of some discussion among television programmers. One sentiment expressed about the commercially unsponsored Sunday afternoon show is substantially this:

Sponsors Shy

"It's almost impossible to make a go of an intellectually potent TV program. Sponsors are shy of them. Better to play safe with the established entertainment formulas — westerns and variety shows. It's too bad, but that's the way it is."

Let's raise a dissenting voice. CBS put about $1,250,000 in the program which has been unable to attract a sponsor.

Unfortunately, the program never recovered from the numerous negative reviews its first show received. Since then it has steadily improved. But, as with so many TV shows, few reviewers paid any attention to it thereafter. (How many, for example, reviewed Robert Herridge's superb program on jazz a week ago Sunday?)

Crosby Improving

The majority of negative reviews of that first show on "The Changing Ways of Love" were based on the performances of two excellent professional writers, John Crosby and S. J. Perelman, who were raw amateurs as public performers. Crosby, who remains as host of the show, has steadily improved. Perelman recuperated in the best place for a writer to be: At his typewriter.

Besides its first fumbling step, the chief fault of "The Seven Lively Arts" is that it often seems to copy too assiduously the format of "Omnibus" on NBC-TV. "Omnibus," enjoying its sixth year on television, has healthy Nielsen audience ratings to prove that a large home audience does watch intellectually potent television. "Omnibus" has learned how to make ideas interesting.

So, too, have "See It Now" and "20th Century," both on CBS-TV, in the field of contemporary history. They succeed, basically, in the very difficult feat of making a viewer feel that "it's fun to think about this."

"The Seven Lively Arts" is learning, and anyone interested in good television can only regret that it does not have time to complete the course.

Byrnes Chevies and Pine Plains Bombardiers are tied for the Hudson Valley Basketball League lead with 2-0 records today and it could be that the winner of the January 1 clash between the teams in Kingston might take all the chips this season.

Greeted by a crowd that by modern standards was heartwarming, the Chevies responded with a decisive 80-66 victory over the Middletown Royals in last night's home opener at the municipal auditorium.

About 200 spectators, saw Coach Red Murray's basketball team in spots, then turn on the steam with a 24-point stretch run to nail down their second straight league victory.

Captain Frank (Yip) Koenig led the firing with 19 points and played his superb all-around game. George Carpouzis finished with 17 points and contributed two hot quarters, while Andy Juhl dunked 14 points. Skip Broadhead canned 12 and Ronnie Scheffel and Buddy Smith had eight apiece.

The Royals were paced by Bob Rhoades, a gargantuan center who gave the Chevies conniptions in the third period and wound up with 15 points, 13 in the second half. Bob Habig, an ex-DUSO League operator and Jim Brownley potted 11 apiece for the Royals.

Twice in Peril In a game of swiftly changing fortunes, the Chevies never relinquished the lead but twice were perilously close to being overhauled. They ran up a 23-11 lead late in the first period before the Royals closed in with two baskets to finish the period 23-15.

A basket and two free throws by veteran Bill Baker sliced Kingston's lead to 29-26 at the 4:00 mark in the second quarter when George Carpouzis suddenly embarked on a hot spree with 10 points and the Chevies pulled away to a 43-29 halftime margin.

What appeared to be a rout in the making failed to materialize after the recess. A streak of shots by Habig, Jack Minon, an impressive outside shooter and Brownley whittled the Kingston lead to 56-52 at the close of the third period but that was the high water mark for the Royals.

The balanced firing power of the Chevies was reflected in last quarter totals which showed Carpouzis with seven points, Buddy Smith with six and Koenig and Juhl sharing nine.

A Fast Flurry Baskets by Carpouzis and Juhl neutralized a long set by Brownley to open up a 60-54 margin for the Chevies. Big Rhoades got a tapin before Koenig and Smith converted three fouls. Koenig's hook shot widened the lead to 65-56. Brownley's long set and Smith's layup preceded a free throw by Carpouzis and the game was out of danger.

After Baker, the veteran Negro star, converted a pair of free throws, Skip Broadhead drilled a deuce, Smith hit from under and Juhl made a free throw. At the 2:30 mark, the Chevies went into a semi-freeze and held the game in tight control the rest of the way.

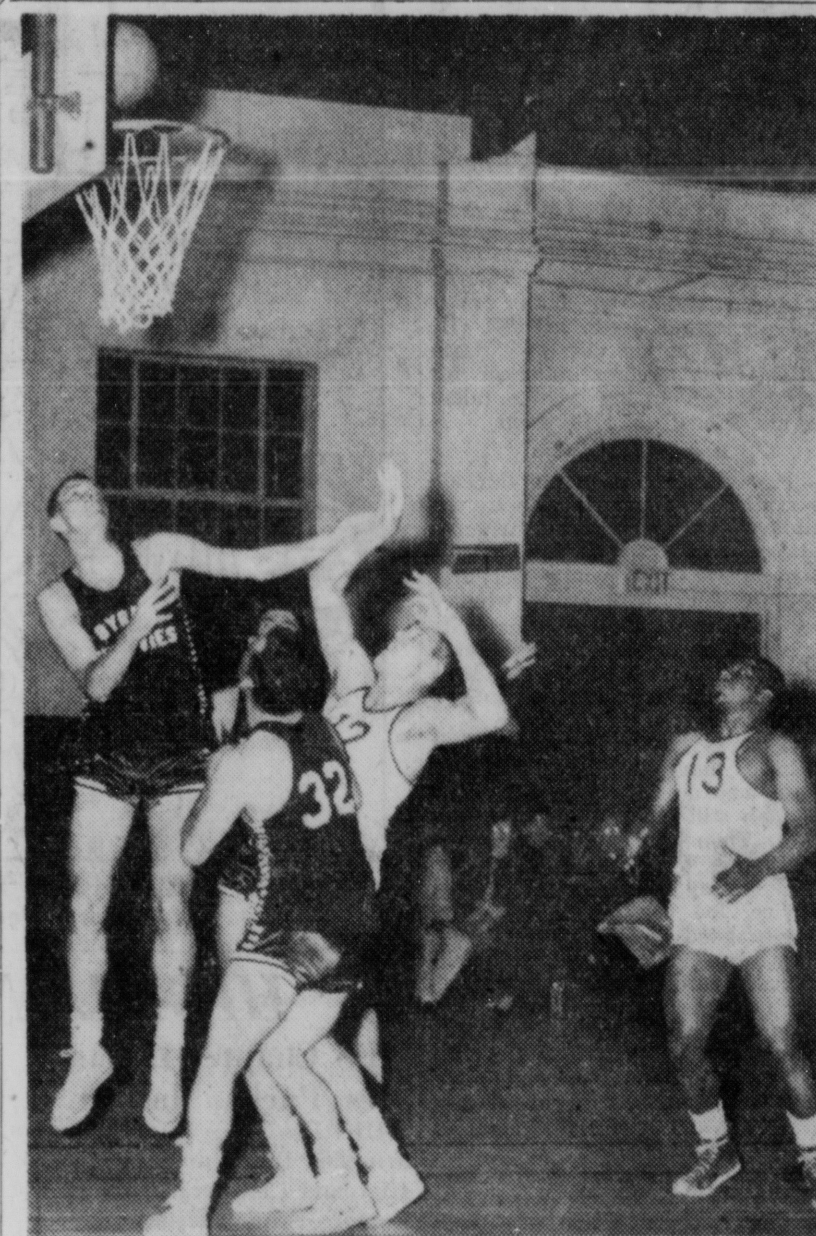

Coach Murray featured a starting five of Koenig, Juhl, Buddy Smith, Scheffel and Broadhead. He used nine of the players on the roster. The shooting was ragged in spots but Koenig and Carpouzis delivered in key spots. Scheffel gives the Chevies strong insurance on the floor and Koenig's all-around game is a strong weapon. The team has a tremendous potential and will be difficult to beat once Murray has found the combinations he wants.

Five Merchants Take Pair From Masters

Frank (Buster) Ferraro and Larry Petersen formed a solid top-and-bottom combination for the Five Merchants, as they knocked off Ellenville's powerful Channel Masters, 2-1 in Hudson Valley league bowling.

Ferraro spliced games of 192, 208 and 220 for 620 in the lead-off slot. Petersen anchored with 245-179-209-633.

In other matches involving local teams, Jones Dairy scored a 2-1 decision over Prospect Dairies and Saccoman Jewelers won the odd set from Ellenville.

Tom Carlino assisted with 237-597 to help the Merchants stake 1013-2886. Frank Bandiero shot 211-231-612 for Channel Masters which tripled 2753.

Lacasse Slams 662 Larry Lacasse's 662, with 247-194-221, for Ellenville failed to hold off the Jewelers (2743) who were paced by Phil Battaglia's 188-203-211-603.

The Jones-Prospect battle featured four six-hundred sets. Jim Amendola posted 236-614 and John Ferraro 245-607 for the Dairymen, who slammed 1023-1002-2928. Charlie Gildersleeve had 226-211-604 and Dick Howard 211-206-608 for Prospects, who totalled 2931.

Syracuse-Cornell Vendetta Resumes Friday at Ithaca

By The Associated Press An Uptate basketball vendetta looms at Ithaca Friday night as Syracuse seeks to repay Cornell in kind for spoiling its undefeated season.

The Big Red, only 4-19 last season, stretched its surprising string of victories to four Saturday night at Syracuse with a 60-54 upset of the highly rated Orange, undefeated in two previous games. Syracuse star Jon Cincebox was limited to four points.

Another humbled Uptate power, St. Bonaventure, meets South Carolina Saturday night in the first game of a doubleheader at Buffalo. The vaunted Bonnies suffered their first two losses at the Cincinnati Invitation Tournament over the weekend. After losing Friday 81-58 to Cincinnati they bowed to Marshall 87-68 on Saturday in a consolation game.

The nightcap at Buffalo will bring together Seton Hall and Canisius, which took its fourth defeat at the hands of Houston 77-70 Saturday.

Another four-time loser, Colgate, travels to Columbia Tuesday, Connecticut Wednesday and Boston University Thursday. The Red Raiders lost their fourth straight Saturday, 71-58 to Penn State.

Niagara Unbeaten Niagara, however, remains unconquered after its easy 82-61 triumph over Florida State and goes on to invade Syracuse Wednesday, Scranton Thursday and LaSalle Saturday.

Hartwick tries its luck in a tournament, the Quantico Marines' three-day Christmas event beginning Tuesday.

Other Saturday results: Hamilton 65, Union 60; Rensselaer Polytechnic 72, Middlebury 52; Rochester 81, Clarkson 72; New Haven 96, Albany Teachers 80; Buffalo 71, Cortland Teachers 63; Hartwick 74, Brooklyn Polytechnic 50; Toronto 78, Buffalo Teachers 58; Potsdam Teachers 78, Danbury Teachers 62; Oswego Teachers 77, Oneonta Teachers 50; Plattsburgh Teachers 92, McGill 58.

This week's schedule: Tuesday — Hamilton at Hobart; Union at Rensselaer Polytechnic; Oswego Teachers at Utica; Oneonta Teachers at Albany Teachers; Colgate at Columbia; Le Moyne at Cortland Teachers; Brockport Teachers at Buffalo; Canisius at Gannon; Buffalo Teachers at Rochester; Canton Aggies at Potsdam Teachers.

San Francisco Showdown

Lions, 49ers Meet Sunday For Western Grid Crown

By The Associated Press The Detroit Lions and the San Francisco 49ers, each with quarter-back troubles and a surplus of second half bounce, will collide Sunday to determine the champion of the National Football League's Western Division.

The teams ended their regular schedules yesterday on three-game winning streaks, tied for the lead with 8-4 records.

The Lions stayed in the running by cracking down on the Chicago Bears 21-13.

The 49ers' quarterback, Y. A. Tittle, directed a 17-point period late to smother the stubborn, last-place Green Bay Packers 27-20.

VanBroeklin Hot In the meantime, the upstart Baltimore Colts, who had the Maryland city wild in anticipation of its first pro football title, ran into a redhot Norm Van Brocklin. The dutchman threw four touchdowns passes and the Los Angeles Rams scored 17 points in the final period to whip Baltimore 37-21.

The loss left the Colts with a 7-5 record and its best NFL finish in history. But it was hardly consolation.

The Cleveland Browns, Eastern champions, warmed up for the championship match, rallying to whip the New York Giants 34-28, while Washington outfaked Pittsburgh 10-3 in other NFL games.

Playoff in Frisco The Lions and 49ers meet in San Francisco for the seventh division playoff in the league's history. The winner plays Cleveland Dec. 29 for the NFL title. That game will be played in the Western winner's city.

Detroit defeated Los Angeles 31-21 in a 1952 playoff and went on to outplay Cleveland 17-7 in the league championship game. It was the Lions' lone playoff appearance. The 49ers never have been in a playoff. This is their best NFL finish since they placed second to Detroit with a 9-3 record in 1953.

With 41,088 watching, the Lions captured their first victory in Wrigley Field since 1953. Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy was the Lions' workhorse in the second-half surge that overcame a 10-0 halftime lag.

The former Ohio State All-American scored Detroit's first touchdown on a three-yard smash that ended an 80-yard drive in nine plays. Later in the third, he picked up vital yardage in a 53-yard thrust capped by Tobin Rote's fourth down ninety-yard touchdown pass to Dave Middleton.

49ers Trail Trailing, 20-10, after the first half, Tittle engineered scoring drives resulting in a field goal and two touchdowns for the come-from-behind victory before 59,522 in rain-swept Kezar Stadium.

Joe (The Jet) Perry scored two 49ers TDs from 9 and 2 yards out. Joe Arenas tallied the other on an eight-yard run off a fake kick. Gordy Saltua kicked field goals of 32 and 35 yards and three extra points to round out the scoring.

Ring Roundup DeCola, Russo Meet At St. Nick's Tonight The Associated Press Danny Russo, 19, and Tony DeCola, 21, two promising welterweights from Brooklyn, meet tonight at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

Russo has a fine 12-3 record. DeCola, 21, is the more experienced boxer with 35 pro fights and a 25-9-1 record.

The scrap will be seen on TV (Dumont) in some sections.

Pep in Boston Willie Pep, the former featherweight champion, comes back to Boston for a match with Jimmy Connors of New Bedford, Mass., on Tuesday.

Pompey Back Yolande Pompey of Trinidad hopes for better luck on his second invasion of America than he had in 1954 when he was beaten by Moses Ward in Chicago and injured both hands.

Pompey draws Clarence Hinant of Washington as an opponent Wednesday at Chicago Stadium (ABC-TV). Ring Magazine puts Pompey No. 2 among the light heavy contenders and the National Boxing Assn. ranks him No. 6.

Hinant is a heavy puncher who is rated among the top 10 in both rankings.

Archer in Garden Jimmy Archer makes the main event class at Madison Square Garden for the first time Friday in a welter bout with Gale Kerwin of Valley Stream, N. Y., and Ottawa.

Kerwin won friends although he lost to Johnny Bussio when he was called upon as a short-notice sub in an Oct. 25 fight. His record is 24-3-1.

Archer has a 14-1 record. The show will be carried on network (NBC) radio and TV.

Valdes vs. Chapman Nino Valdes, the Cuban giant who is ranked among the leading heavyweight contenders, faces Claude Chapman of Boston in a 10-round match Tuesday at Miami Beach. Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, No. 1 light heavy-challenger, boxes Sid Peaks of Louisville at Toledo on Tuesday.

Hirsch Scores Twice

Van Brocklin pitched TD passes to Jon Arnett, two to Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch and a fourth to Lamar Lundy. Rookie Paige Cothren, ex-Mississippi great, kicked three field goals of 44, 23 and 17 yards.

Lenny Moore ran 99 yards on a lateral from Milt Davis on a kickoff and took a two-yard scoring pass from John Unitas to pace the Colts. Alan Ameche slammed across from the 1 for Baltimore's other TD.

Maroon Cagers Oppose Fallsburgh on Tuesday

With the memory of a heart-breaking three-point defeat at the hands of Poughkeepsie High Friday still fresh in his mind, Kingston High will attempt to take it out on Fallsburgh Central Tuesday evening at Kate Walton Field House.

The contest is one of four on the DUSO League slate. Other games match Port Jervis (1-0) at Ellenville (1-1), Monticello (0-1) at Middletown (0-2) and Newburgh (1-1) at Poughkeepsie (-2-0).

The Poughkeepsie setback was the first after two impressive wins over Middletown and Arlington. The locals ran out of gas in the last period, blowing a 51-46 lead in the last six minutes. A seven-point tear by center Alan Smith gained the lead for the Pioneers with about four minutes to go and they were never headed.

Comets Appear Weak

Kingston shouldn't be too hard pressed against the Comets who appear to have another weak team. Fallsburgh has fallen before Rondout Valley, Port Jervis and Ellenville so far and except for the last encounter hasn't shown too much.

Skipper Carnesi is the Comet's top performer. He's hit for double figures in every start and is an able ball-handler. Teddy Davis, center, is another one of the better players.

Kingston got terrific performances out of sophomore John Kelly and senior Joe Klonowski in its losing effort. Both hit for 19 points and were outstanding all-around.

Uhl Stopped

However, George Uhl, KHS' top scoring threat, was held down to just three points which really hurt. Charlie Williams, who whipped in 19 against Middletown, also failed and was blanked.

The appearance of Fallsburgh will undoubtedly afford Coach Jack Gilligan a chance to experiment further with his squad. He has been using eight players almost exclusively of his 11-man squad. Three boys — Jerry McDonough, Dave O'Connor and John Bruch — haven't

Burkemo First In Sanford Golf

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — "I finally won a medal play tournament, after trying for 11 years, I finally made it."

Walter Burkemo was still beaming today over his Sanford Open Golf victory after he and his playing partners — Ed (Porky) Oliver and Jay Hebert — staged a seasaw, suspense-packed windup that went to the final putt.

Burkemo, a whiz at match play, but never better than second in a major PGA medal play tournament, stood off powerful bids by Oliver and Hebert and won by a single stroke.

The husky Detroit, playing out of Franklin Hills, Mich., fired a closing 37-31—68 for a 72-hole 269 total and the $2,000 top prize. It was his biggest victory since 1953 when he won the national PGA championship, a match play event.

Oliver, from Canton, Mass., posted a brilliant 31-33—64 and Hebert, from Sanford, shot 34-32—66 for 70. They got $1,350 each. Par for the 6,140-yard Mayfair Course is 36-34-70.

Oliver, the delight of the gallery because of his clowning antics and funny quips on the course, jumped into the lead at the turn by one stroke. The rollypoly veteran padded his margin over Burkemo and Hebert to two strokes with a dead-to-the-pin wedge shot for a birdie on the 11th. But Burkemo, determined to end a decade of frustration, fired three birdies over the next four holes and regained the lead — for good, as it turned out.

Cleveland Tights Runnerup Position

By The Associated Press

Cleveland has whittled Hershey's first-place margin while tightening their own grip as runner-up in the American Hockey League race.

The Barons trimmed the Providence Reds 5-2 and the league-leading Bears bowed to the Rochester Americans 3-2 last night. The last-place Springfield Indians gained a 5-2 verdict over the Buffalo Bisons to round out the night's action.

Cleveland, last season's AHL playoff winner, moved to within nine points of Hershey's once seemingly insurmountable lead. The victory also boosted the Barons' second-place advantage over Providence to four points.

Hawks Up Cage Lead

By The Associated Press

Don't look now, but there's also a runaway race developing in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

The St. Louis Hawks are starting to pull away from the pack just as the Boston Celtics have done in the Eastern Division. The Hawks now are 5½ games ahead of the Cincinnati Royals, while Boston's lead over the Syracuse Nats has been reduced to 7½ games.

The Hawks completed a successful weekend with a 138-118 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers last night to extend their winning streak to five. St. Louis, which has won 13 of its last 17, whipped the New York Knicks 136-124 in a nationally televised game Saturday afternoon.

In other games Sunday night Syracuse routed Cincinnati 109-83 with a third-period scoring spurt and New York rallied in the final minutes to overhaul the Detroit Pistons 116-109.

In other games Saturday night Syracuse defeated Cincinnati 104-100 and Boston overwhelmed the Philadelphia Warriors 112-94.

TRIM LIMBS OFF A FELLE TREE

ALWAYS STAND ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE FROM WHICH YOU CHOP. NEVER STRADDLE LOG OR CHOP ON THE SIDE WHERE YOU STAND. IF YOU CANNOT REACH ACROSS TO TRIM A LARGE LOG, TRIM THE UPPER SIDES LIMBS FIRST. THEN STAND ON TOP TO TRIM SIDE BRANCHES.

TRIM FROM THE BUTT OF THE TREE TOWARD ITS TOP. CHOP CLOSE TO THE LOG ON UNDER-SIDE OF LIMBS (A). INSIDE CUTS (B) ARE MESSY AND MORE WORK.

KNOCK DRY, BRITTLE LIMBS OFF WITH BACK OF AX-HEAD.

Maple Leafs Tie Bruins for 3rd

By The Associated Press

The Toronto Maple Leafs, rated to finish no better than fifth in pre-season National Hockey League ratings, are tied with the Boston Bruins for third place and only four points behind the runner-up New York Rangers.

The Leafs had a productive weekend, defeating the Chicago Black Hawks 4-1 Saturday and the Bruins 3-1 Sunday.

In other games last night the league-leading Montreal Canadiens blanked Chicago 2-0 and the Rangers downed the Detroit Red Wings 4-2.

The only inhabitants of Jan Mayen Island, about 300 miles east of Greenland, are those working with the Meteorological Institute.

Weather Forecast Given to Saturday

ALBANY (AP) — The extended weather forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today to 7 p. m. Saturday:

Eastern New York — Moderate temperatures with the 5-day average 4 to 8 degrees above normal. No major day-to-day changes. Precipitation, mostly rain, is expected late Wednesday or Thursday and again about Saturday, and average rainfall will be near 1/2 inch.

Western New York — Changeable weather is indicated with temperatures continuing to average several degrees above normal. Colder with a few light snow flurries Tuesday, moderating with rain or snow Wednesday or Thursday, partial clearing and cooler Friday, and another general rain or snow during the weekend. An average of nearly one inch of melted precipitation is expected.

Temperature normals—Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from early morning lows between 15 and 22, to afternoon highs in the low and middle 30s.

Advices Hearing Tests

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An ear specialist says a lot of people who buy expensive hi-fi sets can't hear what they're paying for.

Most sets produce sounds well beyond the hearing limit of all but the sharpest human ear, says Dr. Aram Glorig, a professor at the University of Southern California's School of Medicine.

The professor advises prospective purchasers of high fidelity sets to have their hearing tested before they buy, otherwise, he says, hi-fi for them may just mean hi-fi-nance.
